PEARSON'S FLAG SHOWS SINGULAR BAD JUDGEMENT CLAIMS BC PAPER

Vancouver (PNS) — Prime Minister Lester Pearson's idea that a new, National flag would bring unity to the Canadian nation, has had the opposite effect, the Vancouver Province said in its lead editorial today, and called it "just plain bad judgment."

The newspaper said: "Mr. Pearson's flag proposal inflamed one of the longest and bitterest quarrels in National history and leaves many sections of the country angry, frustrated and with shaken confidence in our government."

"As a means of furthering the National unity the new flag is a joke. It is the government's idea of holding the country together let us devote prayer that we will protect from any more such idea."

"There is only one explanation of the Pearson bad timing."

Soviet officials were reported gratified at Johnson's suggestion that Soviet leaders visit the United States, but they doubted such a trip could be made this year.

Ottawa — Canada's domestic exports in October 1964, were valued at about $670 million, a 7.2 per cent increase over the monthly total in 1963. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

This brought total exports in the first ten months of the year to about $6,674 million ($1) or 21.6 per cent greater than the corresponding 1963 total. The gain was due to a five per cent increase in volume and a two per cent increase in the price index.

Exports were greater in October and the January-October period as compared to a year earlier to the United States, China, Australia, Communism, China, Belgium and Luxembourg and South Africa.

By commodity, the principle dollar-exchange commodities were wheat, newsprint, lumber, pulp and iron ore in October.

Most major streets in all areas were clear as temperatures held above freezing and light rain fell intermittently. Crews today were expected to get at secondary roads.

The Tri-County Hockey Association is set for another season with five teams in the running this year. The league now consists of teams from Little Britain, Oakwood, Cambray, Fenelon Falls and Burnt River.

CHRISTMAS DANCE SUCCESS

On Wednesday, December 28, the special dance "Country Christmas" was held in the auditorium. The music was provided by Garret Powell and his orchestra. The auditorium was suitably decorated for the festive season with Christmas trees and Christmas colours. The decorating committee under the supervision of Donald MacArthur decorated the gym beautifully. The food, drinks, and dancing were all a great success. The decorations were also a big job but when one considers the limited revenue they had. Actually it was one of the best dances this school has ever had and of course "Bingo Deer" added a great deal of fun to the atmosphere of the dance.

I understood that this year, now, one for the first time in many years, the Christmas dance was paying success. Congratulations are due to the student council and to all those who played any part at all in the organization of the dance.

BASKETBALL

The boys basketball team are all once again. Before the Christmas holidays they were practicing both before school and at 3:10 p.m. Now, one again, they are preparing themselves for the tough schedule that lies ahead. Mr. Tat is coaching the senior boys team for the second year and some of the players have very high hopes for the coming season.

The junior boys basketball team is being coached by Mr. Wilson this year. They too have been practicing diligently. Best of luck boys.

SNOW CRUISERS START SPORTS BOOM

Ever since the first Stone Age cave-dweller fashioned a pair of snow skis from animal bones, man has been searching for an efficient form of winter transportation.

According to archaeologists, Scandinavians were gliding over snowy slopes several thousand years before the birth of Christ. The Swedes experimented with animal bone skis in the 8th century. Snow shoes and toboggans were other primitive attempts to deal with winter's forced liberation and hardship.

Despite 5,000 years of experimentation, man had to wait until the 20th century for the first real breakthrough. The tinkering of two Wisconsin inventors produced the first self-propelled snow vehicle during the 1920's. Powered by small gasoline engines, hardly more than an experimental gadget themselves, the first models rattled and coughed over snowbound trails in northern Wisconsin.

In 1927 Carl J. Elison patented the first "motor toboggan" had skid-like front runners and a rear drive track. Although short on styling and passenger comfort, his snowmobile roared over its own icy slopes and snowbound trails. Nearly 35 years later some of Elison's machines can still be seen skimming over the snow in northern Wisconsin. Interestingly, he is now a dealer for Outboard Marine's new snowmobile, introduced this year.

Although the one and two passenger snowmobile remained a "local curiosity" in the 1930's and 40's, larger snow vehicles won gradual acceptance. They were used as school buses and mail carriers in Canada, Arctic explorers and the Canadian armed forces also found snow vehicles provided dependable winter transportation.

Professional hunters and trappers have also purchased two passenger snowmobile after World War II. They were used to transport furs and equipment over the snow-covered trails.

The real avalanche of interest started in 1960. Sales have jumped to 140,000 units in the last four years, and this year looks like the biggest ever.

Carl J. Elison produced a "motor toboggan" in 1927 with ski-like front runners and a rear drive track.

Streamlined styling and a more dependable and powerful engine have been added to modern snowmobiles and new front skis and steering mechanisms have improved handling and maneuverability.

An estimated 20,000 vehicles will be sold in Canada and the United States, according to the Snow Cruiser News Service.

Today's modern snowmobile has undergone some radical changes since Elison's pioneer invention in 1927. Although retaining the same basic design structure, streamlined styling and more dependable and powerful engines have been added. New front skis and steering mechanisms have improved too. The north woods trapper is being replaced by the all-round winter sportsman.

Owners have added to winter business.

together to stage competitive events and cross country races. Snowmobile rallies have attracted as many as 20,000 spectators in recent years. Winter sports, country clubs and even boat marinas have purchased snowmobiles for use as rental fleets to boost winter business.

January 31, 1965, this plaque, commemorating Sir John A. Macdonald, Canada's first prime minister, will be unveiled in Ramothra, Presbyterian Church, Glasgow, Scotland. The marker is provided by Ontario's Department of Tourism and Information, acting on the recommendation of the Archaeological and Historic Sites Board of Ontario. Appearing in the picture left to right are: The Honourable James A. C. Aud, Minister of

New U.S. Stamps Commemorate Salvation Army Magna Carta, Traffic Safety and Dante...

Postmaster General A. J. Froestner has announced plans to issue six new postage stamps in 1966. A commemorative postal card is also scheduled. These are:

A Herbert Hoover commemorative stamp.

Commemorative stamps for Traffic Safety, the Salvation Army, the Magna Carta and Dante Alighieri.

Reproduction of a John Singleton Copley painting in continuing the American painting series of stamps.

A Coast Guard commemorative postal card.

This brings to 11 the number of commemorative stamps planned for 1966. Post Office Department policy is to issue about 15 new stamps annually.

"We gave thoughtful consideration to the great number of requests for new stamps and have selected for issuance what we think will contribute to a well-rounded program for the year," Mr. Gronowski said.

The Dante Alighieri stamp honors Italy's great poet. Born in Florence in 1265, he became a political exile in his middle years and settled finally in Ravenna where he completed his master work, "The Divine Comedy." This is a vivid description of a visit through three realms of the afterlife—Hell, Purgatory and Paradise. He died at 56 in 1321. The stamp will be issued for the 700th anniversary of his birth.

The Salvation Army commemorative stamp marks the 100th anniversary of this non-sectarian organization that conducts its work in 85 countries.

Founded in the London slums by William Booth in 1865, the Salvation Army came to the United States in 1880. Its farflung activities in aid of board welfare programs make it a unique organization.

The cost of highway accidents is nearly 40,000 lives and almost $8 billion a year, according to the National Safety Council. Believes can be cut in half if the program of the President's Commission on Traffic Safety is carried out.

For traffic safety commemorative postage stamp will call attention to the need for improved driver education, the use of such safety devices as seat belts, and point the Department of Tourism and Information; the Honourable John P. Roberts, Q.C., Prime Minister of Ontario; and W. H. Cranston, Co-Chairman of the Archaeological and Historic Sites Board of Ontario. The ceremony is Glasgow, which has been organized by the Ontario Government to take place on the 150th anniversary of Sir John A. Macdonald's birth, coincides with the birthday of Ontario's prime minister, the Honourable John P. Roberts.

"SPRING THAW" MAY RUN TWO NIGHTS HERE

Mavor Moore's production, "Spring Thaw" may run two nights in Lindsay this year, it was learned at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club at noon today.

Harry Parviz, told the meeting he was in receipt of a letter from Spring Thaw Limited which said the company had not been booked as yet for February 25. The production was scheduled at the Academy for one night, February 25, and the company said if no booking is forthcoming this week it will be willing to perform two nights, with one performance per night rather than two performances in one night.

A member of the Kiwanis Club said to the effect would be beneficial to the east, having to perform only one each night and it would also assist the merchants, who have to work until 9 p.m. Friday night to attend the show on Thursday.

He added a more convenient time could also be set, when two performances are scheduled. It might, usually one is too early and the other is too late.

"Spring Thaw" opens in Victoria, British Columbia, and will appear in 44 cities and towns in Canada General Manager Robert Johnston said.

KLTA MAY SPONSOR COMEDY FESTIVAL

The Kawartha Lakes Tourist Association will be asked to sponsor a stage production, "Kawartha Festival of Comedy" by Trigon Productions, Ltd. of Toronto.

Bill Crothers named Athlete of the year

(UPI) — Toronto track star Bill Crothers, named last month as the top male Canadian athlete of 1964, was today selected as Ontario's Athlete-of-the-year by the Ontario Sportswriters' and Sportscasters Association.

Crothers garnered 153 points, 106 more than his closest rival, rover Roger Jackson.

The 62 OSSA members, who participated in the voting, listed their first three choices. Three points were awarded for a first place finish, two for second and one for third.

The 24-year-old Crothers received 41 first-place ballots and only six voters failed to mention him on their ballots.

Crothers, a Toronto philanthropist, pocketed a second-place silver medal for his performance in the 800 metres at the summer Olympic games in Tokyo in Oct. of last year.

Only Australia's Peter Snell was faster than Crothers, the first Canadian to reach the finals in the event since Montreal's Phil Edwards won the bronze medal in the 1956 games at Berlin.

Twenty athletes were named in the balloting. Tommy Grant Hamilton, Tiger-Cat's sticky fingered flanker placed third with 45 points. Chicago Black Hawk's Bobby Hull, 27 points, and Toronto-born Ron Taylor, pitcher with world champion St. Louis Cardinals, 20 points, finished fourth and fifth.

Golfer Nick Welock, 23 points, heavyweight George Chuvale, 15, and Toulonier Jim Day, 13, were the other finalists to reach double figures.

Runmer-up Jackson, drew seven first-place votes. Grant had four. Chuvale, Day and Hull, two. Hockey star Stan Mikita and Taylor had one.

Olympic judo champion, third, Dennis Rodgers, who finished third in the Canadian male judo, was almost overlooked by Ontario sportswriters and sportscasters. He received just one point.

Mikita and Ottawa rough-poller Ron Stewart had four points. Rider Jim Elder and George George Kundson gained three points. Fleeter skate player Peter Butka and the Earl of Arsonault's Gord McTaggart collected two points.

Thirty floats in Santa parade

An estimated 2,000 people from Fenelon Falls and the surrounding area watched the parade which consisted of some thirty floats many stressing the Christmas theme. Music was provided by the popular Rotary Hoot Band, and delightful Christmas music was provided by Jack Marshall, well known musician, and Hammond Organ, and the Kinsmen Band of Lindsay.

Three floats from Lindsay took part in the parade. They were the Lindsay Real Estate Board, The Girls Training School and the Kawatha Chapter I.O.O.F. The Twirlites from Sunderland also added much colour and interest to the parade. The "Cubs", with their cubmaster Jack Barrett also created a good deal of local enthusiasm.

Santa Claus was seated in an old fashioned cutter drawn by prancing reindeer, and after the parade had toured the village street he drew up at the Post Office. Here members of the Rotary Club passed out treats to the many children present.

INDUSTRIAL GRAD HIGHLIGHTS 1964

Two familiar landmarks no longer on the local scene. The Canadian Pacific Railway station and the Band Stand in Victoria Park became the victims of progress. —Post staff photo

The 1934 championship football team of LCVI paid tribute to their former star W. S. W. "Bill" Breeze, now principal of LCVI.

LOCAL EVENTS DURING THE YEAR

At the dawn of a new year, we recall some of the highlights and important events of 1964. It was mainly a year of industrial growth. A new airport was opened and some landmarks were changed or removed. The year was not marred very much by tragedy as had been the year before, but there were some controversial issues. There was some achievement in local sports but nothing really spectacular occurred apart from.

The greatest industrial achievements were the beginning of the construction of the new Dominion Rubber plant and the opening of a new Brinton Carpet factory. The soil turning for the Dominion Rubber plant, which will have a great impact on Lindsay when it is opened, and for years after, was perhaps the most significant event industrially.

The enlarged 50,000 square-foot Brinton Carpet factory and major expansion to the Dominion Brakeshoe plant added greatly to the industrial growth of the town in 1964.

This growth was partly aided by the opening of the Lindsay municipal airport in October.

In 1964 the Academy Theatre took on a new look when it was refurbished and again put into use after the formation of the Academy Theatre Foundation, a group of citizens who would not allow the possible destruction of the fine old theatre. Two other landmarks, the band shell in Victoria Park and the old CPE station on Caroline Street were removed.

In the neighbouring community of Omenees, Dr. Jules Sobrian became involved in a controversy, culminating in national publicity, after he bought some school property and the village tried to expropriate it for a park. The issue became more heated when the school burned to the ground and the Omenees Fire Chief reported it was arson.

On The Sports Front

Sports highlights for 1964 on the local front started with the Lindsay All Star Pee Wee hockey team when they went to the finals in the International "Silver Stick" tournament at Port Huron Michigan Feb. 1st. After defeating Barrie 3-2, Detroit 3-2, St. Catharines 4-3, the Lindsay side lost out to Sarnia 3-1 in the championship final.

On April 27th at the Kiwanis Arena, the Lindsay Lions bowed out in their bid for the Ontario Junior "C" Hockey Championship to Hespeler Shamrocks. After the Lions won the first game 6-4, Hespeler bounced back to take the next four games 7-2, 4-3, 3-1, and 4-3. The Lions outshot the Rocks 3-1 over the series.

On Friday, Sept. 11th Western Merceries and Jenkins Construction met the ninth game of the seventh series for the Lindsay Men's Softball Championship at the George St. Park. With the Merceries leading 12-1 the game was declared no contest and executive action later declared Western the winners.

Sonya Braves won the 1964 Victoria Independent Baseball League Championship on Sunday, October 4th when Ted Hallett shut out the Little Britain Cubs 2-0 on nine hits, in the seventh game of the final series.

December 29th finds the Lindsay Merchants Junior "C" hockey team preparing for a stretch run with Bobcaygeon tickets for the Cliff Johnson Trophy which Lindsay Juniors won last spring in the final game of the schedule.

NO INTERFERENCE

Bournemouth, England (UPI) Locksmith Cecil Rudkin worked for an hour trying to open the jammed lock on a bank's front door. Of all the people who walked by him on main street, not one called police or asked why he was trying to get into the bank.

"I think it must be an example of the British attitude of not interfering with other people's property," the bank manager said later.

THERE'S NO SCARCITY TO HUMAN ILLNESSES

Someday you wonder what to discuss. You want it to be something important for the majority of readers. You know you can't miss if you choose heart disease as a subject of cancer, or ulcers, or thyroid disease, or arthritis. These enemies of mankind are so common that they are the lives of many millions of people.

But when in doubt, choose heart disease. What human being is completely free from this plague. There are no bacteria involved. No viruses. Yet it seems to be contagious. Fear, either acute or chronic, is catching.

Should I rise in a crowded place and see what happens. (Not as an experiment, please.) Or, read your daily paper and listen to the news on the air.

However, there are many happy human beings. I prefer other aspects of anxiety. Each for to have to work my brain one of us in is some way the the faint. The well-known and so many actual and potential almost universal financial fears. How will you pay your rent? How about milk for the children? A dress for the wife? The anxiety of living from day to day with minimum financial reserves? Not knowing how you will meet tomorrow's bills?

Thousands will tell you these fears are as nothing when compared to the threat of cancer. A wife undergoing a serious and complicated operation. A leaseholder brought into an emergency room, face shredded by an auto accident. When you come to think of it, there are no bacteria involved. No viruses. Yet it seems to be contagious. Fear, either acute or chronic, is catching.

Should I rise in a crowded place and see what happens. (Not as an experiment, please.) Or, read your daily paper and listen to the news on the air. If there is a threat to another human being, there are how millions of us catch chronic anxiety. Identical that still bedevil the

ULCER PATIENT FEARFUL You should also know that we can help to bring him peace of mind.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Call emergency. For example, we have learned that the mortality rate will be greater in bleeding peptic ulcers than in bleeding duodenal ulcers. I understand that the treatment is by emergency operation. It is only about 15 per cent if the hemorrhage is controlled temporarily and surgical treatment is performed during an interval stage. The mortality rate is less than 4 per cent. (According to the statistics by Dr. Ralph F. Bowers and Michael L. Gompert of Memphis, writing in the Annals of Surgery.)

CONSERVATIVE TREATMENT FIRST

If at all possible, then, bleeding patient receives medical treatment rather than immediate surgical intervention. He is admitted to the gastrointestinal section of the hospital. There he receives bed rest and careful nursing. He receives blood and other fluid replacements. Also medication to neutralize stomach acids. If the patient is unduly apprehensive, psychotherapy patients never bleed severely.

Consumed liquor, became violent -- youth fined

Wayne Henry, 20, of 152 Mohrman Street East, was fined $25 in Lindsay Police Court Monday or 10 days for consuming liquor while under the age of 21.

Police testified that following a complaint at 2 a.m. on New Year's morning that there was a disturbance at the accused's home, police found him being held down by four men.

Police said the accused stated he had been at a party and had taken a drink without the host knowing it. The accused went home and after arriving home, became violent. Magistrate Ian Munro said, "Judging from his conduct he should drink at all-unless age or over age."

FIT PROBLEM IN SLIPS MAY BE THING OF PAST
 The only sure way, up to now, for a woman to get a perfect fit in a slip was to have it custom-made or have a dressmaker alter it to her specifications. As a result most women either have been wearing slips that bag here and there or wearing half slips or petti-pants.

What has been termed the most significant development in lingerie since the advent of nylon tricot — lingerie slippers — may change all this. Fabrics elastized with these fibers are said to improve the appearance and comfort of everything from slips to briefs, and in particular, to eliminate a chronic problem: the tendency of loose fabric in the bodice and midriff to billow feminine curves.

The sleekness and freedom in the new under-fashions elastized with "lycra" promise to put women of every age back into full-length slips. Hereafter, a slip had to be cut snug to the waist to allow a woman to slip it over her shoulders and it had to be slightly larger at the bottom to let it slip her hip. Now, however, slips can be made to conform exactly to the contours of the body and to move with the wearer as she moves without riding up or bunching.

Bright Windows
 Have trouble in getting your windows bright and clean when you wash them? Try putting a few drops of kerosene and a touch of borax into your hot water the next time.

Milk Glasses
 Glasses that have been used for drinking milk should be rinsed in cold water before washing them in hot water. Heat drives the milk into the glass, giving it a cloudy appearance.

HOW CAN I ???
 By Anne Ashby

Q. How can I make a good silver cleaner?
 A. A common lamp brush is an excellent agent for cleaning silverware. Rub it on with damp cloth, allow to stand for a few minutes, then rub dry with cheesecloth.

Q. How can I improve the agitation of the solution in my developing tray while I am developing?
 A. Place a round pencil or piece of dowel under your developing tray, and this will enable you to roll your tray back and forth without so much danger of spilling any solution.

World news today

Jakarta (UPI) — President Sukarno declared last night that Indonesia is going ahead with its withdrawal from the United Nations, and said he will expel all U.N.-aid agencies from this country.

"I declare that Indonesia is withdrawing from the United Nations," Sukarno told a widely cheering crowd at a rally here. From now on, Indonesia no longer is a member of the United Nations. Now we are happy — go to hell, United Nations!

The Indonesian President expelled his reinstatement of Indonesia's decision to quit the world organization with a bitter denunciation of its aid agencies.

Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia. — Britain's withdrawal from the United Nations may be the prelude to an all-out Indonesian attack on this country.

Two big Britannia jet-propelled transports loaded 300 British paratroopers here today. Three hundred more are arriving tomorrow and Sunday, completing the transfer of a parachute battalion from Britain to threatened Malaysia.

Also scheduled to arrive this weekend are some of the sailors who will man four mine-sweepers and two patrol boats which are being "demobilized" to join British forces patrolling the Straits of Malacca.

Ottawa — Opposition House Leader Gordon Churchill of the conservative has thrown his support behind statements yesterday by government house leader George McRath indicating the parliament after its recess will be another running.

Churchill said unless the government brings in a controversial measure, the legislation planned could be passed within a few days.

He indicated, however, that a bill permitting Quebec to drop out of federal programs could be considered necessary for lengthy debate.

In other matters, Churchill said he didn't think there was a bill permitting Quebec to drop out of federal programs could be considered necessary for lengthy debate.

Ottawa — Industry Minister C. M. Drury meets today with the Canadian President of the United Auto Workers (C.U.A.W.) to discuss plans for a free trade in automobiles between Canada and the U.S.

George Burt has opposed implementing the plan until safeguards are instituted for the workers in Canadian plants who might be displaced.

The government has indicated it feels this is a problem between management and the union.

However, the plan is being held up pending agreement between the U.S. parent General Motors firm and the Canadian government which would guarantee Canadian products an expanded share of the market.

TV SHOW DISCUSSES SEARCH FOR CONTROL OF CANCER

Every year the Canadian Cancer Society puts on a campaign for funds with which to carry on its great work and every year the local unit in Victoria and Halliburton join in that campaign.

This year will be no exception and the month of March will be April as usual and as usual we who contribute will be very interested in the manner in which our money is spent. The answer to this question is at least twofold. A part of this money is spent right here at home helping all needy cancer patients with whom we come in contact and much of it is spent to assist in the great outpouring and con-

Howe hated in Boston

Goalie Howe, the highest scorer in National Hockey League history, is rated as the least popular man in Boston today.

The veteran Detroit Red Wing star required a police escort to the dressing room Thursday night and another police escort to the hotel following the game won by the Boston Bruins 5-2.

Howe, who scored both his teams goals in the third period, incurred the wrath of the Boston crowd when he slammed Bruins rookie Bill Knibbs into the boards at 14:57 of the final period. Howe drew a major penalty as Knibbs was assisted from the ice.

Referee Vern Buffey ordered the police escort for Howe when it became apparent the fans were particularly incensed at the incident. One fan was taken in custody by police after hurling a cup of orange drink in Howe's face as he left the ice.

Knibbs, in the meantime, was taken to a hospital for x-rays of his knee.

The game itself belonged to the Bruins, who piled up a 5-0 lead before Howe connected twice. Knibbs and another rookie, Wayne Rivers, scored in the first period, Murray Oliver and Ed Westfall added goals in the second session, and Tom Williams completed the Boston scoring early in the final period. —UPI

TOOK TO THE TRACKS

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, (UPI)

Harold Miller, a newsroom to turn, turned his car onto a railroad track last night while fleeing for a side street in thick fog.

The car became wedged in the tracks, forcing an approaching train to stop across a crossing and halting traffic until Miller's car was hauled away.

"I guess I haven't learned the streets of Cedar Rapids yet," Miller said.

NOW YOU KNOW

Australia's natural resources include rich deposits of Bauxite, copper, lead, silver, uranium and zinc, and lesser quantities of gold, tin, ironstone, wolfram and minerals of value according to Whitehall's Almanack. —UPI

Merchants battle Cate's claws tonight

Lindsay Merchants will have their work cut out for them tonight when they meet a nearly bunch of Ty-Cats at the Kwanan Arena tonight. Both teams are hurting from injuries received Wednesday night and are used to settle personal scores with the opponents in the opposite cage if possible.

The Cats were able to contain Merchant Captain George Babcock but it required the undivided attention of one and sometimes two men to do it. Tonight local fans predict that "the rifle" will bring some of his screaming fans, while the "Cat" top scorer John Nicholls will be out to fatten his average with his deadly close shots.

All three Lindsay line produced in Wednesday night's game and the defence never looked better, but the fact remains, in many sports, the Merchants will have to be really up to take the Ty-Cats to a row. A share of first place is on the line tonight, as a win for the Merchants will tie them with the Cats for top spot in the league standings. Game time tonight is 8:00 p.m.

Included in the over 600 crowd at Bobcaygeon Wednesday night were several Merchant supporters who motored from Toronto for the game.

Coach Gus Bodnar also joins.

Little Britain Aces report that their game with Neumar ket Redmen re-scheduled for Saturday night will be played in the Cannington Arena at 8:30 p.m. The Cannington-Stock vs. Little Britain game originally scheduled for Dec. 30th has been re-scheduled to take place at Little Britain Monday January 18th at 9:00 p.m.

A game scheduled for Lindsay Kiwanis Arena on Monday, January 11th, has been called ground for several weeks with still no definite decision. The schedule calls for Aurora to play here Monday evening, but ice time is not available to Junior hockey on Monday nights. The Merchants have made attempts to have the game played here on Friday, January 29th, as both teams are idle that week and no previous date is available but Aurora refuses to come on that date.

Latest word indicates a league meeting will be held in Neumar ket after the game Thursday, Jan. 14th, to set up playoffs and the Jan. 11th date will likely be dealt with at that time.

OFFICER COULD HAVE MAGISTRATE TELLS

"You know, the officer, as it is commonly expressed, could have thrown the book at you!" Magistrate Jan Munro told Dennis Joseph Arenault of 8 Durham Street West after the man pleaded guilty to failing to produce insurance and failing to stop at a police stop. Mr. Arenault was fined $50 and costs in Lindsay Police Court Thursday, or 15 days for failing to produce proof of insurance and $10 and costs for 5 days for failing to stop at a stop sign.

Lindsay-Off Constable Lyle Wotton told the court he was having gasoline put into the police cruiser on December 19, at 8:45 p.m. when he saw a vehicle travelling on Kent Street at a high rate of speed. While he was pursuing the vehicle, it pulled onto Highway 7 without stopping at the stop sign and travelled 70 miles per hour in a 50 zone. He said the car came back into Lindsay and he pulled it over on Kent Street. Constable Wotton said the acceded drove with no lights; the vehicle was in poor condition and it was not insured. Gordon Ronald Swain of Manilla was fined $15 and costs or seven days for travelling 70 miles an hour in a 40 zone on Highway 7 between Oakwood and Highway 46 at 7 p.m. on December 9.

John M. Ferguson of Queensville was fined $10 and costs or five days for failing to notify of purchase. Constable Wotton said following an accident on County Road 4 on December 11 at 4:30 p.m. he found the accused had purchased and sold the automobile he was driving and had not changed the ownership.

Hollywood (UPI) — When Steve McQueen begins to be loved by the greatest thing where I want to be. This is since sliced bread, he jumps on a motorcycle for a realistic appraisal of himself.

In the world of McQueen, he is King. Press agent, executive producer, managers and a whole lot of other people praise him endlessly.

Returning from the World International six-day motorcycle trials in East Germany where he competed with the American team, McQueen explained: "The teams from other countries were not sponsored and they were not paid. They were not paid because we had an actor on the team. But on the second day of racing — 250 miles a day — we were in the lead."

"But we blew it on the third day when some of us crashed. I wiped out the side of my wooden shaft nearby that had served as Norma Sherry's portable dressing room in years past."

"You see," McQueen said, "around the studios everybody waits on me. They powder my nose and tell me what they think I want to be. And after a while you've convinced you're a super-human."

"But when you're racing a motorcycle, the guy on the next bike doesn't give a damn who you are. And if he beats you in the race, well, that's it. He's a better man than you are, and he's not afraid to tell you that you're a loser."

"Racing keeps my equilibrium flat. It makes it difficult for me to believe I'm God's gift to humanity."

McQueen came up the hard way. He still bears traces of a rough childhood in his choice of words and a somewhat defensive attitude. He's worth a million dollars, but for lunch he ate a cold "organically pure" hamburger patty on dry organic bread. He drank grape juice from his son's lunch box thermos.

The actor and his wife live in a luxurious mansion set in a wooded estate. But when time permits McQueen is off on rugged hunting trips or roughing it on his motorcycle on mountain trails.

"Man, I got to be a perspective," he explained. "I know motorcycle racing can be dangerous, but I don't plan on getting killed. And when

ALL-ROUNDER ROLLERS ARE OUT...

The girl who sleeps with her hair in rollers spent approximately 2,920 hours a year being uncomfortable!

Now, with the coming of the new shorter and smoother hairstyles, there's a way to 'roll' your hair only once a week and still look marvellous the other six days.

The trick is the use of Scotch magic mending tape for styling and setting your hair in rollers and for preserving the curls until next you wash your hair.

Hair stylists first discovered that tape was ideal for achieving the new "unrolled" look, and now the idea is catching on with girls at home.

This is started by putting the top hair in rollers. This will give a lift to the crown that lasts all week. After the rollers can be put away until the next shampoo.

Next, Scotch magic mending is used to set smooth bangs, sides and necklines which need only the slightest curl. Because the tape is moisture-proof, hair can be set either wet or dry.

After that, the nightly hair-care routine is quick, simple and comfortable — it's taped! Before going to sleep at night, comb the bangs into place and tape them. Then comb out chock curls and set them flat. In this way hair can be worn either brushed softly forward or curled behind the ears, finally brush sand tape the back neckline to keep the desired shape while asleep.

No time at all the hair is set in place.

set. No awkward rollers, and no piercing hair clips to mar a comfortable night's sleep.

In the morning, this tape comes off easily, without sticking, and a smart hair style is still fresh and new.

HOW CAN I GET IT? By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I smell small leaks in rubber hot-water bottles?

A. A temporary measure to cover the hole with adhesive tape. A permanent way is to melt an old jar rubber, rub the molten rubber over the hole with a flat-headed knife and press it down with your finger.

Q. How can I insure smooth working spindles?

A. By rubbing occasionally with a bit of wax.

BYLAW PASSED

By-law number 1-65 received first, second, and third readings by town council and passed last night. By-law 1-65 authorizes the council to borrow up to $300,000 to meet the current expense of the Corporation until sufficient tax money is collected to carry on. Clerk W. Bates told council that last year about half of this amount was all that was required to run the town in December. Last year's borrowing by-law was for the same amount.

RAINED OUT

Dardanelle, Ark., (UPI) — Dardanelle and Lamar high schools sloshed their way into the basketball record books over the weekend.

None of the players did anything unusual, but it was probably the first modern-day basketball game to be rained out at half time. The credit goes to the leaky roof in the arid-able high school gym.

disposal methods in other countries do not seem to be to humane as believed by the public. The belief is that a child could be hung for stealing a loaf of bread or a candy from a store.

"I think," continued Mr. Lamb, "the records will show that seventeen or more people have been sentenced to die in this country in the past year that there have been a number of crimes by the ancient method. The official hangman, I understand, collects a salary of $5,000 a year. Life imprisonment, with its special avenue for learning a trade, re-teaching pupils (many of whom are mere boys), and the opportunity of becoming a member of society when they are liberated, seems to me to be the best method of punishment."

Talk of Raising?
Mr. Lamb was asked if the talk of raising or reducing the number of members of the Hydro-Electric Commission at its annual meeting on Tuesday evening.

The power cut off last week in the North end of the city of Port Huron and Mill Street North was due to metal fatigue and was discussed. Mr. Lamblighty revealed that the aluminum hydro line had been installed about 1916 and had been replaced by steel line since that time. If time and money permit it, the next year, the Hydro Commission would like to remove the transformer from this area and relocate it, and replace the aluminum line which runs down Victoria Ave. to the former Arsenal, he said.

Before going into committee the Commission discussed the partial financing of hydro finances if a local committee installed them. More details were needed and they will be brought to the next meeting and discussed.

World news today

London (UPI) — Russia has called for the "immediate extension of the three power nuclear test ban treaty but has ruled out any international controls to police it. The Russian call came in response to latest British suggestions that the test ban should be extended, to include underground tests which are so far excluded from the three power pact.

The test ban covers explosions above ground, under water and in the atmosphere. Leopoldville, The Congo Premier Moise Tshombe yesterday rejected any plan for putting the Congo under international control.

"No Congolese can tolerate, I am convinced, that any African independence—international or African—and even if it calls it self the Organization of African Unity—put the interests of this continent under the tutelage," Tshombe said in a newspaper interview with the Elodie du Congo.

He was commenting on a proposal for settling the Congo rebellion put forward by former Premier Cyrille Adoula. Kenosha, Wis. — A baby bethlehem-inspired efforts of a set of quadruplets (twins) to the Robin Griffe Noone died today, a hospital report said.

The hospital said the infant girl was the third child born Monday night to Mrs. Joyce Noone. The latest child was born to her after a long illness from apparent respiratory difficulties.

The hospital said the three surviving infants were "doing well."

The quadruplets were the first born in Wisconsin since 1907. An attempt was being made to determine the cause of death.

Tokyo — A Nationalist Chinese freighter with 44 persons aboard split in two in heavy seas 320 miles east of Tokyo today, the U.S. Air Force reported.

The pilot of an air force rescue vessel sunk but the stern remained afloat.

Cause of the split was not yet known.

The ship, the SS Grand of Formosa, was bound for Yokohama from San Francisco with a cargo of iron.

Saigon — South Vietnamese Premier Tran Van Huong yesterday began sounding out Saigon's splintered political factions for suggestions on formulating a new legislature.

Huong, faced by continuing military losses, also contacted military leaders to discuss quelling the for the law-making body.

A group of young generals dissolved the previous legislature—the High National Council.

The latest move was part of a coup d'etat on the ground that it was ineffective.

Woman driver fails test—loses examiner

Bourbonnais, England, (UPI) — Mrs. Vera Byrne's driving was too much for the examiner who accompanied her on the road test part of her license application. He jumped out of the car and ran.

The incident happened yesterday in the seaside resort. Mrs. Byrne didn't really blame the examiner. She said she turned the wrong way into a one-way street and got stuck in a maze of screaming motorists.

"I was petrified," the examiner directed me to a sideway and got out. I was abandoned."

The License Examining Office looked into the matter. "The examiner decided, quite rightly, to terminate the test in the interests of public safety," a spokesman said. He was consulted to take verbal and physical action to prevent a more serious situation arising."

Mrs. Byrne, who is 44, did not mention what was said or what physical action the examiner took.

But she admitted that he was "quite right" in falling her on the test.

FIRE DESTROYS TRAILER HOME

Bethany (P.N.S.)—Fire of unknown origin gutted the trailer home owned by Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Gibbons here on Sunday night.

Occupants of the trailer, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Martichenko were dining with neighbours when they noticed smoke pouring from their home.

Quick response by neighbours failed to stop the blaze before much damage was done.

The Martichenko family which includes four children, Mary Ann, Debbie, Wayne and Diane are staying temporarily with Mr. and Mrs. Roland Scott.

Their little dog Tippy died of smoke suffocation.

Although no estimate of damage has been released, it is believed that the trailer is beyond repair and all the furnishings were destroyed. The Martichenko's lost all their clothing except what they were wearing, bedding and household supplies.

HUMILIATING!
London, C.P.N.—The Sun newspaper protested editorially today that a management consultant firm has introduced lie detectors in Britain.

The paper urged people to "indignantly refuse" to use the lie detector tests. "The lie detector is a most humiliating device," the Sun said. "The American have used them for years."

Recently selected as "Miss Boating" for 1965, pretty Jean Milburn of Toronto will reign over the 7th annual Canadian Boat Show in the Automotive Building, Exhibition Park, Toronto, from February 5 to 13. The marine exhibition will have the most extensive display of boats, engines, marine hardware and boating accessories ever assembled under one roof in Canada. More than 160 exhibitors from seven countries will display a variety of boats and marine products.

A new type of highway safety warning device is beginning to appear on Canadian highways, announced the Canadian Highway Safety Council. This new safety triangle is clearly visible day and night, at a distance of 1,500 feet. When a vehicle, for any reason, is stalled on the side of a highway, the safety device is placed 100 feet behind the stalled car or truck. Constructed of aluminum, surfaced with red reflective material, it is always visible night or day, in any weather condition, and there is no danger of failure from a power source. The R.C.H.S.C. have equipped their patrol cars with this new safety red triangle and it has been accepted in many countries around the world as a standard highway warning emblem. The Canadian Highway Safety Council recommends every vehicle on the highway should be equipped with such emergency warning equipment.

NEWS FROM THE LCVI

BIG WEEK PROPOSED

One of the problems at school this term has been recognized by the Student Council. That problem is 'school spirit'. The older students on the council have realized that something is definitely wrong with "school spirit" this year and they are going to try to remedy this situation. They no doubt remember the past few years when they were in junior grades and the older students stimulated the theme of "school spirit" and now they know it is up to themselves, the senior students of the school to guide the student body to a path of greater school spirit.

This problem has been known for several months and now something is being done about it. The problem is not yet too severe but school spirit is certainly a great deal lower than that of previous years. The students of LCVI are not the only persons to notice this. In the fall, during the football playoffs with the two Peterboro Collegiate, the students from Peterboro were shocked by the weak support our two football teams received. This is an example of the lack of sufficient school spirit in LCVI and there are plenty of others.

New, the Student Council assisted earlier, are going to try remedying the situation. They have several good ideas. They plan to have a week of festivities starting Monday morning and ending Friday at 3:10. They plan to have an "Old Clothes Day" when students will wear their old clothes to school. Then they plan a "Colour Day" and perhaps another "Feller Repeller Day". The climax, which is not yet decided, may be a Hootenay on Friday.

Best of luck Student Council Members, and congratulations on recognizing and trying to remedy the situation.

NEW FLAG

It has been reported that the Student Council has ordered Canada's new flag. The members of the council plan to have it fly on the flag pole at the front of the school. An assembly is being planned to officially receive the new flag.

DRAMA CLUB PREPARATIONS

With the new term being started, the Drama Club is already preparing for their annual "Drama Night". The publicity manager of the Drama Club, John Murphy, informed me that nearly all auditions have taken place and there are only a few vacant roles remaining. Of course, he said, stage hands and make-up artists are always needed. All who are in any way interested should attend the next meeting of the Drama Club. The exact date will be announced later.

This year, as in other years, there will be four one-act plays. The four plays and their directors are as follows: "The House with the Twisted Windows", directed by John Murphy; "The Mask", directed by Terry Collier; "A Tale for Bobby Sox" directed by Terry Mooney and "The Rose" directed by John Humphries. This promises to be a very entertaining evening for all who attend.

In trying to eliminate the problem of the actors not being heard, the Drama Club has decided to use only one half of the auditorium. This means, of course, there will be two separate performances.

The dates have been set and they are February 16th and 19th. Tickets are 75c for adults and 50c for students. Support the Drama Club and your fellow students while enjoying your self. Attend "Drama Night".

TIMBER WOLF - THE GOOD NEIGHBOUR

White River — This frigid part of Ontario's vast north-land may hold the dubious reputation of recording the province's coldest winter weather but it has a warm spot in its heart for the much maligned timber wolf.

Noting that "the howling of timber wolves is one of the most characteristic and exciting sounds of the north woods", the District Office of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests here observes: "It is being appreciated by more and more people as the realization grows that these animals will not attack human beings and that their presence is more often beneficial than harmful to the interests of man."

"The wolf occurs in northern areas around the world. In primitive North America, deserts were the only areas in which they did not occur. They lived in habitats that varied from the short grass prairies of Texas to the bleak tundras of the High Arctic Islands."

"The range of the wolf has been greatly reduced since the continent was colonized. In Ontario, however, they still occur over a large part of the province and are absent only from densely populated southern areas."

"In colour, our wolves are most commonly in variations of browns and greys. In the north and in the south, they are found in groups or packs which are believed to be it is usually very difficult to find individuals apart. In the north, it is not uncommon to find packs that contain individuals that vary in colour any extended period where from light cream to almost large graying or brownish-grey black.

STAMP CORNER

The Golden Jubilee of Nigeria's Boy Scouts and the Scout Zamboze will be commemorated with a four stamp set to be issued in Lagos this month. The values of the set will be 1d, 3d, 6d and 14d and eight denominations picture this set will be followed by a 1d African elephant, 14d Secoversair sheet containing a white bird, 24d Purple Tropic bird, 3d Grey parrot, 6d Moustache, 6d African Tropic tree, 14d Amethyst Star.

Other commemorative stamps of Nigeria in 1965 will include stamps to commemorate the International Co-operation, the denominations 1d, 14d World Meteorological Year and 24d and the other one and the International Telecom-holding the rest of the values munitions Union Centenary, of the set.

Completed in 1894 at a cost of over one million pounds, Tower Bridge is one of the best-known features of the London scene. The lifting and lowering of the bascules, each weighing over a thousand tons, to allow the passage of ships, takes five minutes and is performed by hydraulic machinery. By an act of Parliament a tug has always to be in readiness nearby for possible emergencies—British Tug Association photo.

The many friends of Mrs. Everett Mark are glad to hear that she is now able to be home again and that her condition is considerably improved after being confined to the Ros Memorial Hospital in Lindsay for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Roberts have returned to North Bay to spend another month with some of their friends and relatives after spending the Yuletide season at their home in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wakeford motored to Sunderland the home of his sister Mrs. Dana where they spent New Years at Glover.

Mr. and Mrs. Gladwin Dave of Sunderland called on some of their friends and relatives here last Sunday evening and

A gentleman who has rendered over 37 years of faithful, conscientious and important service as an employee of the London Post Office has retired.

He is Guy Mills, well known and popular Lindsay citizen.

Mrs. Mills had several years to go in the civil service but decided to retire in order to establish himself in some line of business in the town. Mr. Mills has been one of the most efficient and popular members of the post office staff and for several years past has been the assistant Postmaster. He has been active in the work of his church, in boy scout organizations and in recent years has rendered fine service as a member of the Town Planning Board. Several years ago he contributed to the life of sport in the town, especially as a hockey player. His friends wish him well.

"Every Little Movement has a meaning all its own". Remember this old time but far from being worn out popular dance tune? The tune is still popular on many dance record programmes. It was recalled to mind Saturday night when heard on the air. "Every Little Movement" has a meaning all its own" was heard at many a dance held in the present town hall by the Red Feather Club. One of the best dancers at the time who taught lessons was Walter Dixon, a photographer by profession. Another well known teacher of dance steps was the late Mrs. T. J. Dixon. Most of the best dancers were dancing shoes and the dancers really "dotted up" when it came to formal dances and they were popular. The ladies wore long evening dresses with plenty of jewellery and carried small beautiful mesh purses of silver and gold and fancy coloured beading. The men looked "handsome" in long tails, shirts with pearl buttons and short white vests, with or without bowties. Waltz and two step dances were popular and there was fun in dancing the number of "Coming Through the Rye" which included what seemed to be difficult steps and manoeuvres. Blue and white macaroons, Lunch was served by the ladies, lots of sandwiches and fancy home made cookies. No one carried extra liquid beverage on the hip and coffee was enjoyed. Remember.

A galaxy of statements and leading personalities attended at the anniversary event celebrated at Kingston in connection with the 150th anniversary celebration of Sir John A. Macdonald, Canada's first Confederation Prime Minister. The Hon. Leslie M. Frost, Hon. J. Roberts and the Hon. John Diefenbaker and others attended.

It is worthy of note that John visited Lindsay many years ago. The late Samuel Howe of Lindsay often recalled the fact. Apparently Sir John addressed a gathering at the town hall when he spoke from a small balcony which was at the time so located above the present entrance the present town hall. At the time the hall was known as the opera house (the first in Lindsay).

The present long and ancient windows of the present town hall have been admired by many people interested in "Canadiana". The windows resemble the original windows in the building where the first Confederation Parliament met in Charlottetown.

New York — Jottings from the notebook after 10 days of seeing the spring fashion collections from leading New York designers:

Spring will be the season of the print, no subdued figure prints, but giant patterns, many of them in the abstract rather than traditional floral or geometric. Typical is one in a short cocktail dress, unbelted and with spaghetti string straps across otherwise bare shoulders, from the firm of Jerry Silverman. The designer Shannon Rodgers, used a black and white combination, a silk version of a pony's patch

The council was told that in making application, plans for the proposed building would have to be submitted. The council queried whether equipment sheds could be included as a centennial project, but learned that they could not.

ON THE MAIN STREET

He was an R.C. and was broad-minded and tolerant. When-ever the Orangemen celebrated the glorious victory in Lindsay, he was in the crowd.

It is reported that a former owner of five mile section of Lindsay found the top section of a roadpost on which were painted the words "5 miles to the Goog's clothing store". This post recalls the years when similar mile posts could be found on every leading road entering Lindsay. The mile posts were popular at the time men and boy's clothing stores entered and operated by B.J. (Barney) Gough at the corner of Kent and William streets, where the Victoria and Grey Trust is now located. It was Lindsay's largest store of its kind.

Mr. Gough was a believer in advertising. The entire length and depth of the east wall of the store on William Street, a picture of a well dressed, tall man with suitable advertising "B. J." was there, who wore a goatee and was the most handsome gentleman in store on Young Street, Toronto, town, but not the colorful.

"Chatterbox" tin-can flattener a trifle cumbersome—reader

The Lindsay Post, Lindsay, Ontario.

Mr. Editor:

In a recent issue of "The Post", "Chatterbox" advised us how to construct a tin can flattener which, he says, is the best, a trifle cumbersome, and requires too much material.

My point out, that you may get better results, and need less material to flatten tin cans, if you proceed as follows:

After the contents of the can have been removed, cut out the other end; and, "step on it" and then you have two flat ends and a flat can too, no waste, with your method, because it is almost impossible to flatten a can, with one end, still intact.

Try it, please, say Eh. Thos. A. English, Toronto, 4, Ontario.

Council hopes to hold tax hike mayor reports at a inaugural meet

Mayor Joseph Holton, in his inaugural address to council Monday said although there have been predictions that taxes would increase this year, he was of the opinion it was possible to absorb any new demands for money without increasing taxes. Mayor Holton said, "It is dangerous this time to attempt to predict how your taxes will be affected this year," because the council has no control over 70 per cent of the expenditures of tax money."

"I foresee continued industrial and commercial expansion for the town, with many employment opportunities for the citizens of Lindsay," Mayor Holton stated. He said there are several projects which remain to be finished this year, including the new bridge Street South. He said William Street and Colborne Street was to be finished this year, and a decision on the width and use of Colborne Street is reached.

With reference to the future of the town, Mayor Holton over the Scung River, the mayor said, "There has been a very interesting suggestion for a bridge across the Scung River. Bailey bridge could be erected across the river at Colborne Street, but it is not a decision on the width and use of Colborne Street is reached.

Honoured Canadians

Many years have elapsed since Canada discontinued accepting honours from the United States, Great Britain, and the Canada Medal struck to honour great Canadians has yet to be presented to anyone.

So, how do you know our great? We name buildings, streets, lakes, bays and points after them! A bay and a lake have been named for the late Canadian Industrialist Col. Robert S. McLaughlin of Ottawa, Ontario. Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson named Tuesday, McLaughlin Bay and McLaughlin Point which form part of Durham Provincial Park. In the past, the name of the company's features, with Lake Ontario as the background, are clearly visible from Highway 401. The celebration of the first birthday last September, Mr. McLaughlin was described by the Prime Minister as "one of Canada's Most Distinguished Citizens whose achievements in business and public service to his country have been outstanding."

Mr. McLaughlin founded a major company in 1897, and the McLaughlin family the famed McLaughlin and McLaughlin-Buck automobiles. He was a devoted supporter of the board. He was later elected president of GM and remained in that position until the end of World War II when he became chairman of the board. Mr. McLaughlin is also a vice-president and director of the parent company in the United States.

A great Canadian. Is there really any reason why we should not honour such a man? Somewhere in the heart of our country, or a point? Why not Sir Robert McLaughlin of Ottawa? Or perhaps Robert McLaughlin, C.M.

Sir John A.

Monday marked the 150th anniversary of the birth of Sir John A. Macdonald, the architect of Canadian Confederation and Canada's first and longest serving prime minister. The occasion will be marked today in Kingston by a reception and banquet attended by many of the various political and racial elements.

Some of the comments Sir John A. made over a hundred years ago are still valid. "The property of Canada depends upon its permanent connection with the mother country," he said. "I shall resist to the utmost any attempt, from whatever quarter it may come, which may tend to sever the union between us." And commenting on the flag, Sir John A. commented, "To our Canadians I appeal, and I ask you what have you to do with this union? Is it not your fathers' blood most dear? Under the broad folds of the Union Jack, we enjoy the most ample liberty to govern ourselves as we please, and at the same time we participate in the government of the great Confederation with the mightiest empire the world has ever seen... As for myself, my course is plain. A British subject I will be, and a British subject I will die."

Today, 150 years after Sir John's birth, forces are still at stake. The British Empire, our British traditions. Already the flag has been replaced by a leaf, and some agitation is being heard for the abolition of the monarchy and the creation of a republic.

If we are not faithful to our past, we are unlikely to enjoy our future. The spirit of innovation by the United States still looms over the country of Canada which still exists ever come a poverty-stricken area, its natural resources exploited for the benefit of the industrial giant to our south.

Pressures work against

Sydney, Australia, (UPI)—Perhaps reluctantly, Australians are finally coming to realize that immigration is a white nation, their destiny is inevitably intertwined with that of Southeast Asia and Japan.

As the change are blowing a way much of the ill feeling harbored by large number of Australians toward the influx of immigrants from Asia. It. They are the same winds that are beginning to eddy against the "White Australia" immigration policy.

For a long time, the main reason behind these changes is the nation's efforts to expand its overseas trade.

Japan is Australia's best customer for wool, coal and iron ore and is pressing Britain to become the number one customer for Australian goods and raw materials and manufactured.

Australian resentment against the Japanese has been growing since World War II, and the scarce Australians got when Japanese prisoners were stopped short of invading the nation. The resentment is deeply rooted even today in the popular opinion expressed.

Until the last six years or so, this resentment was not strong. Australia has been relatively free Japanese businessmen venturing "down under." But today they are in every corner of the Australian economy, with just a shade smaller than the United States.

Australian businessmen and trade-seeking government officials now shuttle back and forth between the two countries. Five years earlier, the possibility of incidents would have been seen only in the lobbies of major hotels.

Now, many, many, many, many, many have paid their first good will call to Sydney since World War II. Not content with incident, they are doing more.

Japanese sailors swarmed happily throughout the city. Many were invited into the homes of residents. Ten countries. But these become fewer, and less listened to, as each month goes by.

—G—
Australians have never held the an-

"White Australia"

Upward toward other southeast Asians which existed with the Japanese. The country of Southeast Asia long observed what is unofficially but commonly called the "white Australia" policy.

This means that except in unusual circumstances such as marriage to an Australian citizen or the death of a citizen, the country, immigration of non-Europeans is prohibited.

Educators, religious leaders, various social professionals will likely be called upon to explain the policy and even an occasional politician for this call for abolition or at least modification of this policy.

Some elite humanitarian reasons, others the growing trade between Australia and southeast Asia and a concern of retaining the white Australia leaders regard as the growing menace of Communist China.

The problem realistically, it can be said safely that a majority of Australians still favor the "white Australia" policy although many of them wish it was not expressed in those words.

Many of Australia's major political parties publicly skirt the issue as diplomatically as possible and there is no sign whatever of agitation in parliament even over the numbers of non-Europeans as migrants.

Even so, increasing numbers of nationalists keep Australia's doors open to urge the government to at least modify the ban against immigration of non-Europeans as migrants.

The government has approached the problem with a subtle, but not subtle, Asian students into its universities. The Australian people policy but firmly that they return to their respective countries after their schooling has ended—usually with the warm blessing of each student's home country.

Mr. Sir Alister H. Hall, former permanent head of the Department of External Affairs and present director of the Australian Institute of International Affairs, urged a "public bubble immunity" for the phrase "white Australia" which he said "is a somewhat disavowed, (no white along to hang up the clothes at night—if, indeed, they are returned to the country, red-faced, late nights in camp, and pre-dawn rising to hunt. Invariantly, he is a white man, happy and friendly in spite of it all."

Some hunters, too, are to be encouraged, the industry's spokesman said. "Some of our hunters are making the best step they have had in months—even though it's 10'clock in the morning, the sun is out, and the rain is falling."

"In spite of everything, though, about one in four probably got a deer,"

—Copper.

Whodunit?

Production of "Whodunit" and the interest of those who read them continue unabated over the years, and there are more and more who are turning to the page to read the private eye or the crime reader.

Although the dog that didn't bark, the cat that didn't meow, the unexplained silence, all the author must do to find another example.

Modern inventors continually come up with new techniques and methods to solve crimes, but the old story line seems fresh. Consider the murder without a motive, which is explained in the last chapter. It is the only one of the victim perished through a highly complicated series of misunderstandings.

As the story opens the old-fashioned author has a hand in the plot. The comfortable way. A man speaks: "Bill him."

Not So Dumb

In this age of affluence, says its critics, people are easily induced to over-spending on the goods they need. The second use was to put a known gas inside and use the light to do research on the gas. It is the only one of the side were that, in the study of little-known gases, the long light tube enabled them to get more amplification of the gas. Published as The Mass Consumption Society, George Katona's study is based on the findings of the Survey of Consumer Habits of the University of Michigan, where he directs the economic behavior program. It is a book about the consumer's behavior. The consumer and his role in the affluent society. The majority of families, says, now have discretionary purchasing power and constantly replace and enlarge their supply of consumer goods, but they are sensible buyers and easily swayed by high pressure selling.

Most people, he concludes are not looking for the easy solution, but are more concerned with the future. They are very concerned with security, but are not willing to give up their freedom and conscientiously save for retirement.

They are increasingly attracted to common stocks as an investment, and are careful when they buy. They are resourceful in inflation, often refraining from buying when prices are inflated, expecting a rise in prices.

Contrast to the widely held theory that they step up purchases at such times, this reinforcing theory.

C. J. Harried, a well-known writer, says those who undervalue the public's taste and intelligence, have wished to be over-protected by a "gentle" censorship.

popular error," the British statesman Edmund Burke said two centuries ago, "to support the loudest complaint for the welfare."

Deer Hunt casts spell

Kemptville—Reminiscing on the deer season in this southeastern part of Ontario and deer hunters as Conservation Board members, the Ontario Wildlife Supervisor N. D. Patrick observed.

He would guess that the job of the red coated, red capped, bearded, rather unkempt individual who has just shot a nice buck and is so pleased that he hardly felt like to be happy, red-faced, hard-hearted personnel manager of some big firm downtown?

Conservation Board members would really appreciate and understand what happens to the quiet, uncommunicative, but hardy little hunter who is a deer hunter? Seen about mid-week, he is usually unshaven, red-faced because people who work indoors invariably get a little bit of a "deer" look, somewhat dishevelled, (no white along to hang up the clothes at night—if, indeed, they are returned to the country, red-faced, late nights in camp, and pre-dawn rising to hunt. Invariantly, he is a white man, happy and friendly in spite of it all."

Some hunters, too, are to be encouraged, the industry's spokesman said. "Some of our hunters are making the best step they have had in months—even though it's 10'clock in the morning, the sun is out, and the rain is falling."

"In spite of everything, though, about one in four probably got a deer,"

Giant Laser

When Arthur Garratt, research director of the BHC General Overseas Research and Industrial Programme, was in the United States recently, he made a point of visiting the Bell Telephone Laboratories in New Jersey to see the longest laser in the world. Reporting in the programme, he included a recording of the conversation between him and Dr. Robert Zittor. A laser, a product of the present decade, were really light amplifiers, capable of producing a beam of light of great intensity and, perhaps even more important, of precise frequency. It is the only one of the coherent light, that is, light composed of continuous waves. Broadly, there are two kinds—a crystal laser which produces a beam of light of a single color, and a gas laser which operates at much lower peak intensity, but continuously. The ordinary gas laser was a few feet long but the giant at the Bell Telephone Laboratories was thirty feet long.

Dr. Zittor explained that it was possible to introduce any gas into the tube, and the first object of his team was to get a laser that would produce a beam of light of a single color. The second use was to put a known gas inside and use the light to do research on the gas. It is the only one of the side were that, in the study of little-known gases, the long light tube enabled them to get more amplification of the gas. Flint Knapping

In the quiet county town of Brandon (Suffolk) one of Britain's oldest archaeological sites is still going strong. A few miles away in Grime's Graves, a pre-historic flint mines where Stone-Age man have used out his axe-heads which attracts a host of tourists every year.

It has been said that the Napoleonic wars were fought on Brandon flints, and even today, many places in Africa and the Middle East are still using Brandon flint knives in America, Britain and elsewhere.

Large flints are used in the building and repairing of flint buildings and in the flint business for over 300 years, it has been said that the flint business has been used out his axe-heads which attracts a host of tourists every year.

At the beginning of the last century the flint business was a very important work, but now only "Trix" Drewry remains, and as he says, "There is no more flint knapping in the world."

Before you can turn over more than a hundred pages, you will find the name of the man on the cover is saying to the Judge: But your Honor, I understood him to say, 'Kiss him.' It is the only one of the side were that, in the study of little-known gases, the long light tube enabled them to get more amplification of the gas.

No doubt even window units will soon be so quiet that a lovely melody will be heard from the cover is saying to the Judge: But your Honor, I understood him to say, 'Kiss him.' It is the only one of the side were that, in the study of little-known gases, the long light tube enabled them to get more amplification of the gas.

TIPS ON COOKING MEAT

Everyone is well aware that meat shrinks during cooking and this loss gives two days or so of leavings for your money. But something can be done to prevent too much shrinkage according to food specialists at Macdonald Institute Food and Nutrition Department. First choose a high quality meat that need not be cooked without an excess of internal fat. This fat melts and is lost in cooking.

Then choose the correct oven temperature. Low temperatures produce roasts which are moist, tender and more appetizing. It has been proven that low oven temperatures require less fat to roast meat than do high temperatures.

The idea temperatures for beef, veal, lamb and pork are 300 degrees F. (Poultry may be roasted at 325 degrees F.) Fresh pork should be cooked at 350 degrees F.

Pork should always be well-done to an extent of pinkness. Veal, poultry and lambing also be well-done. Best of course may be roasted with a bit of the stringer, rare, medium or well-done.

A meat thermometer is the most satisfactory method of determining doneness. It should be inserted into the thickest part of the meat being roasted. These temperatures can be used as a guide to tell if the meat is cooked: rare beef - 120 degrees F.; medium beef - 160 degrees F.; well-done beef - 170 degrees F.; cured pork and veal - 170 degrees F.; lamb - 180 degrees F.; fresh pork - 190 degrees F.; poultry (in thigh) - 190 degrees F.

Remember that meat continues cooking about 10 minutes after it is removed from the oven. Allow meat to stand 15 minutes before slicing; it will be tender and carving will be much easier.

Removing Old Linoleum

When old linoleum is taken up in the kitchen, removing the remaining adhesive from the wooden floor by scrubbing with a strong, hot solution of soda salt concentrated - about a pound of the salt to a gallon of water. Let the solution work on the paste for an hour; then scrub again with a brush or scrape with a wide-bladed putty knife.

Economical Wood-Like

An excellent article like stain for pine wood is made of strong tea diluted with a little water. When dry, cover with two thin coats of fresh white shellac, and when that has dried, try for a fine finish.

Concrete Floor Maintenance

The simplest way to keep a concrete floor from getting dirty is to give it a coat of wax. This usually will effect-ly keep the dust down. If you don't want to apply wax or if waxing should prove ineffective, a hardener may be applied. Commercial hardeners are on the market for this purpose, but you can also make your own-one part of water-glass to four parts of water. Apply this mixture in two coats, allowing the first to dry for 48 hours before applying the second.

When mailing coins with a letter, one efficient way to do this is to cut a larger corner of an envelope, slip the coins inside this, fold it, and staple it to the letter in such a way that the staple holds the coins inside.

COFFEE EGNOG

6 eggs, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon ground cloves, 4 cups milk, 4 cups strong coffee, 1/4 cup lemon juice, 4 cups gingerale or soda water, 1 qt. vanilla ice cream, nutmeg.

STUFFING THE CHRISTMAS BIRD

Spicy moist stuffing is one of the best complements for a golden brown roasted turkey or chicken. Follow these steps: Add a few drops of ammonia to a cupful of warm water, apply carefully with a soft cloth which has been wrung out quite dry in this solution.

Two or three day old bread is best for stuffing. If dressing is pressed tightly into a ball, it should break apart when released. Otherwise, after raising and absorbing the juices, the stuffing will be soggy.

Allow one cup of stuffing for each pound of ready-to-cook-fowl. A 24-ounce loaf of bread will make about 12 cups of dressing. Stuff the bird loosely to avoid spilling. Dressing should be added and pan during the last half hour of roasting.

BASIC BREAD STUFFING

4 cups bread crumbs, 1/4 cup butter, 1/2 cup chopped onion, 1/2 cup chopped carrot, 1 teaspoon poultry dressing or sage.

"Opening doors" theme of Mission Circle meet

One "All About Us" star never takes a bow!

Mr. H. M. Crown, President, opened her home for the January meeting of the Elizabeth Kyle Mission Circle of Cambridge Street Baptist church on Tuesday afternoon.

The hymns and devotional were apropos of the New Year's theme and a poem read by Mrs. Crown followed with prayer were also inspiring.

The theme of the devotional was "Opening Doors" and dealt with the opening of the door into the New Year of 1968. Through this door "in God's good providence, we are called to a new life of adventure, for we have not passed this way before."

Mr. C. Suggitt prepared the paper which was used by Mrs. A. A. Needs as part of the devotional period. The quotation of our late King George VI was used by — And I said to a man who stood at the side of the year, "Give me a sign that I may tread safely into the unknown and he replied "Go out into the darkness and put your hand into the hand of God — that shall be to you better than a light and safer than a known way." Mrs. Suggitt, Mrs. Soles and Mrs. Boyd read Scripture verses used in the service — John 8:12, Revelation 3:30, and J. B. Boydway offered prayer.

The third chapter of the Study Book was reviewed by Mrs. Suggitt and pertained to the "Revol in Angola".

Mrs. M. Irvine, treasurer gave the annual report which was very gratifying.

The roll call was responded to by favourite Scripture texts.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. P. C. Read with Mrs. Boydway taking the next chapter of the Study Book.

The hostess served refreshments and a pleasant holiday was spent over the top-ups.

Jay Housenau, a native of Switzerland, witnessed his first game of curling at the Peet Street rink last Tuesday night. He had been in Canada only three days and he watched his friend Tim Stege playing in front of the glass. The visitor, who has spent a year in the United States is associating himself with the Hogg and Lyle seed firm at Mariposa station. However, the gentleman from Switzerland is not a curler, but a fan of the game, for which he is catching on in Switzerland and several motels and hotels can be seen with outdoor curling ice built especially to attract tourists from England, Scotland and the United States. He was fascinated with the game, although his physics naturally turns to skiing and skating, for which Switzerland is noted.

C. E. Ferguson dropped in at the curling rink of a few night's ago to morally support his son President Ferguson of the Lindsay Club and also because he is a former curler and would be active at the game yet but for back troubles. A curl of the said Lindsay pack below, Terry Begley, is substituted against the warming glow of the bonfire of Christmas trees.

The broom known as the "Little Beaver" has been creating a lot of interest in the past two years — also a lot of noise. The broom has a piece of three inch wide leather or plastic substance flapping and slaps the ice and is cutting a furrow in the ice. Boys were noticed on the Lindsay ice for the first time in the Walkwood broom last Saturday and were played in an outside rink. Many players all were using the "black jack" broom which is said to be superior for curling than the usual broom. Just how much better the brooms are in obtaining sweeping results is still questioned by many curlers.

PORPHYRIA APPARENTLY HEREDITARY CONDITION
Dear Dr. Steinhorn: My grandson has porphyria. I never heard of it. Is it serious? Anything to do for it? Will you discuss it? Thank you, Mrs. O.

Comment: Most doctors have heard of it, but not all have run across it in practice. It isn't common. Sometimes it is overlooked. It is apparently a hereditary condition in which the body has difficulty in metabolizing certain pigments or coloring agents called porphyrins. Urine is often practically black. As far as I know, there is no cure.

Often the patient gives a history of muscle weakness, pain in the abdomen, nausea, constipation and vomiting, and even emotional symptoms. Occasionally the presenting symptoms are actual paralysis of severe psychoses. There may be fever, rapid heart action and high blood pressure. In some, skin is sensitive to sunlight.

In trying to keep the patient comfortable the doctor prescribes paralytic or chloral hydrate for restlessness.

Chlorpromazine and opiates to control pain. Barbiturates and alcohol are bad because they often induce attacks. I wish I knew of something specific that would help. But the job now under a physician is to keep him comfortable and hope that investigators can come up with something that will cure as well as alleviate the condition.

Dear Dr. Steinhorn: I have been interested in your column on plastic surgery. I too, agree that a woman (or man) should have surgery to correct nature's fault. In answer to an unattractive nose problem many women say, "If I do not remember what a headache or a cold felt like no gray hair. When I find my very first checkup not long ago, the doctor could find nothing wrong and say that I was wasting his time.

Oh, yes. I eat all my vitamins first. I do not eat the ox or the fish. I eat the vegetables, and some canned. At all kinds of nuts and seeds. I have no worries. I envy you. They can't be that good!

THRIVES ON ONIONS
This is in reply to Mr. O. of Chicago who wrote recently that people should steer clear of raw onions. He wrote: "You never see a worm in a raw onion. Even worms know what's bad for them!"

Dear Dr. Steinhorn: Mr. O. is right. We never see worms, flies or other pests in or on onions, though no need to spray them with D.D.T. etc., and for your information, Mr. O., all raw onions, but especially the green stems which most people discard, are the best brooms which sweep away all kinds of bugs out of your body.

The Northeast CORNER

by "the observer"

I am going to attempt today to give a very short outline of the life of a man who was without doubt the most extraordinary Native Canadian of his time. He appeared upon the stage of Canadian history.

Although not born in what might be called poor parents, nevertheless he was not born with a silver spoon in his mouth and it was only by his native ability and original genius that he was able to climb to the top of the ladder in our early Canadian politics. His name was John Alexander McDonald, or as he is so lovingly and affectionately called, simply John A. His father was Hugh McDonald and he was a native of Dornoch, Dornoch was a small town away in the north of Scotland but as Hugh grew to manhood the lure of the big cities attracted him and he moved to Glasgow and set up in business with a partner. In those days Glasgow was not far very well and eventually he fell in business. He then attempted a new and similar enterprise on his own but his success was no better and he was forced to leave the sum of 1820 he set sail for King's College when only 17½ he and his wife Helen and their four children arrived in Kingston.

Hugh's wife had a friend living in Kingston by the name of McPherson and on their arrival they were made very welcome in the McPherson home. In those days Kingston was a thriving military town and it was the capital of what was then known as the Midland District. The Midland District was made up of Frontenac, Lennox and Addington, Prince Edward and Hastings. These counties were measure-ably well populated and for those times fairly prosperous. They also contained several villages such as Bath, Ameliasburg, Adolphustown, Ball's Bay, Napanee and Belleville and these villages all looked to Kingston as their capital. Here in Kingston in October 16th, 1820, he opened his first shop.

As was the custom of the times, they lived above the shop and of the five children born to them only three survived the tragic disaster of childhood. William the oldest died in infancy before they left Scotland and their second boy James died as a result of a blow from a man who worked for them. The next was Margaret, for short called "Moll" and John Alexander and Louisa, or "Lena". John Alexander was born January 11th, 1818 in Glasgow and he was only five and a half years when he was brought to Canada. He had his mother's prominent nose, her generous mouth and her wide set dark eyes, and he also had a copious crop of dark, curly almost frizzy hair. He was a rather quiet, thoughtful small boy and yet full of fun and mischief. In the meantime, times were not going so well for Hugh. The shop did not prosper so he changed to a new location but his luck did not change.

Next he thought of moving farther west and set up as a farmer but in the end he moved to Hay Bay and opened his first shop. But also in these pleasant surroundings and in a very short time the third shop failed. Near what is now called Glenora and The Lake on the Mountains he took over the "Stone Mills". This was his last major investment. It was a great mill where he also carried on the carding of wool and the fulling, drying and dressing of cloth. The mills were never more than a mediocre success but at least a number of years it avoided failure and through the agreeable landscape John Alexander and his sister, rambled happily all through the beautiful summer time.

At about the age of nine John Alexander had started to school in Kingston. There he was to be private schools or perhaps the district grammar school but in those days the Education System in Ontario was not what it is now. It was not for some 25 years until Egerton Ryerson appeared, that teaching and education in general took on an organized appearance.

However as the year 1830 drew to a close John Alexander was nearly fifteen and gave every indication of being a good student. It would however be another ten years before Kings College or Queen's College would open their doors and there was still no formal instruction in law in the Province.

For a student wishing to become a lawyer, the Law Society of Upper Canada gave him more responsibility and more independence. He is now starting a new phase of his career and will follow on from here in my next letter.

TREATMENT HELPS SUFFERERS OF PREMENSTRUAL SYNDROME

Dear Dr. Steiner: I hope you will get around soon to writing again about the premenstrual syndrome. I think I am a candidate for the club. For a few days every month before my period I am a Horrible Harriet. I'm looking for help. My doctor says he can't help me.

Comment: Before many of my readers find that as a term Horrible Harriet in describing women who are at the mercy of their glands before their menses, let me raise my protective shield: many women who suffer from premenstrual tension realize how trying they are on their husbands and children — and have used more severely descriptive phrases in identifying themselves.

I think the chief clue is that the normal sweet-tempered Sue has a complete reversal in temperament for a few days every month before her period. This should make her, and her doctor, suspicious of premenstrual tension.

Here were some of her results: Bloating and weight gain affected 100 per cent of the group (88 per cent improved). Irritability and or nervousness affected 100 per cent (82 per cent improved). Depression affected 12 per cent of the 614 patients. 75 per cent improved. Abnormal appetite or eating pattern affected 10 per cent (60 per cent of these improved). Dysmenorrhea (painful menstruation) was relieved or reduced in 72 patients. Treatment is prescribed to

The chimneys of Big Ben are famous throughout the world. The clock, due to expert supervision, is a perpetually accurate gauge of the time. The tower looms over the imposing buildings of the Houses of Parliament, over which it has stood solemn guard through the decades. A flag on Victoria Tower by day and a light in the clock tower by night indicates that the House is in sitting.—British Travel Association photo.

W.A. and W.M.S. join for meeting

Cresswell (PNS)—The January meeting of Cresswell Who Am I? was led by Mrs. W.A. and W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. Andrew Dixon in Manila, with an attendance of eighteen women and four children. The President, Mrs. R. Wood, was in the chair and opened the meeting with a New Year's thought followed by a hymn. Scripture reading by Mrs. Wood was taken from Joshua 1. Mrs. P. Brown read an article based on the Scripture reading, and followed with prayer. The second article on Study "Mission on our Doorstep" was given in dialogue form by Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Currie, Mrs. Boothwood, Mrs. Acton, Mrs. Richardson, Mrs. Switzer and Mrs. McPhaden. It gave a review of the organization and history of the W.M.S. through the hundred years since the beginning in 1864. W.M.S. collection was received and dedicated.

The business followed with the reading of the minutes of the two December meetings, and the roll call, which was answered by the receiving of fees for the year of 1965. Nineteen memberships were received. W.A. Collection was received and the Annual reports given by W.M.S. Treasurer, Mrs. R. Currie and the Secretary's report by Mrs. P. Brown. Correspondence was read and business of the minutes dealt with. Suggestions and ideas regarding ways in which to raise additional sums of money were made and dealt with, as well as suggestions for Roll Call. A draw was taken for members to be responsible for meetings throughout the coming year.

A contest "What Am I and Who Am I?" was led by Mrs. Wood and a poem read. A hymn was sung, followed with the benediction by the President. Refreshments were then served by the hostesses, Mrs. Dixon, and a vote of thanks tendered her for opening her home to the Auxiliary. The February meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. A. Webster.

Flu still packs a wallop

Many people believe influenza from coughers and sneezers. This age of miracle drugs, however, according to Reader's Digest, are the facts:

- 1) There is no specific treatment to cure flu. No drugs, pills, capsules or syrups attack the virus.
- 2) Flu returns in cycles, past. And for the safety of those in your home, remember that you have a catching disease will strike in the winter of ease.
- 3) With the last one was in 1968-69.

c) With the major complication, pneumonia, flu is a serious killer.

Influenza is a rapidly contagious disease that takes hold within 18 to 36 hours after its victim is exposed to the virus. The victim suffers chills, headache, muscular pain, frequently a cough, always a fever. He is likely to be prone for approximately three days.

The aged are especially vulnerable to flu and its complications. Eighty-four per cent of the 1,165 Canadians whose deaths were caused by influenza in the winter 1968-69 were under one or over 65 years of age.

During an epidemic, these precautions should be taken:

- 1) Get plenty of rest; eat regular, well-balanced meals to help keep up your resistance to infection.
- 2) Avoid crowded places.
- 3) Try to keep a safe distance.

Merchants down Redmen 6-1 Aurora Tigers here tonight

Another hot trick by Bob Taylor set the Merchants seventeenth win of the season at Newmarket last night. Merchant goalie Doug Broad had a shut-out all but made ready to wrap up only to have it vanish with four minutes to go. The final score was Lindsay 6, Newmarket 1.

The Merchants took control early in the game last night but only managed one goal in the first period against rookie goalie Dave Ballard. Of the three Lindsay penalties in the first period, two were but two seconds apart but several key saves by Doug Broad kept the Redmen at bay.

Regular goalie Terry McGowan handled the second period for the Redmen during which time the Merchants ran the score to 4-0 on goals by Ray McCabe, Bob Taylor and Bill Horton. Ray McCabe served two penalties and Doug Broad one in the middle frame.

Ray McCabe's second goal and Bob Taylor's third completed the Merchants scoring in the third period with the penalties three to one against the Merchants. The Redmen's goalie, Terry McGowan had to retire after about two minutes of the period when he stopped a low shot with his face. It was expected quite a number of stitches were required to close the wound on his upper lip and alongside his nose. Dave Ballard was put in again after a short delay and again he held the Merchants to one additional marker. The Newmarket goal came at 15:33 of the period after the Redmen had been under attack for several minutes, when Ivan Se-

You can make a very efficient scrub brush by cementing a piece of rubber stair tread to a scrub brush. The rubber tread is excellent for cleaning linoleum and painted surfaces, and also acts as a sponge to remove excess water.

High on Growing List of Province's New-Found Riches

Saskatchewan Oil

Stepping squarely into the big picture of Canada's booming development, resource-rich Saskatchewan is making its impact upon the world. Renowned more than ever for massive wheat exports, the quarter-million-square-mile province now balances its agricultural earnings by producing another one and a half billion dollars worth of other vital commodities — not least among them, oil. In a dozen years Saskatchewan oil has risen to an average daily production of 250,000 barrels — nearly a third of Canada's total — a growing flood of natural wealth which, combined with new-found riches in fossils, heat, metals, chemicals and manufacturing, has set the provincial economy on a steady course to increased prosperity. As the demand for oil continues, 1964 is expected to be the third consecutive year of growth in Saskatchewan's new petroleum boom. Exports, up 70 per cent last year, is estimated to keep up its fast pace during the coming year and the industry's expenditures are likely to reach the $200,000,000 spent in 1964. For the million people of Saskatchewan, the modern developments in mineral wealth mean a succession of economic record-breaking years, the fastest growth in Canada of retail sales, rising per-capita income and a buoyant, wide outlook across the horizon of their changing prairie province.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 20, 1964

For a Centennial Wing

If the old home town wants a project for the centennial celebration of Canada as a self-governing country, the local people might think about Dr. William Douglas. And his contribution to the town in which he was born.

Dr. Douglas started to practise medicine when he was 21 years old, on a July 1, 1867, his birthday. History is a little obscure as to how he became a medical doctor, but it may be assumed that he had been an apprentice to an older practitioner. Dr. Douglas was an early doctor, carrying the then known tools of his profession. Probably these were only a stethoscope and a forceps in a saddle bag.

Although he lived well into the era of the motor car, he was wont to exercise the superiority of the horse. Only one thing could be better than a horse and that would be a pair of horses pulling a smart buggy or horse. There is more good break trail better than an automobile.

Even by today's standards he undoubtedly was a good doctor. There was no hospital in the community and many an operation was performed on the kitchen table in the home of the patient. His doctor of today is likely to express admiration of the old times who, with limited facilities and a knowledge gained outside a medical school, often seemed to work miracles.

Dr. Douglas became a wealthy man, but not by charging or collecting from his patients. A good farm called the farm was the Douglas farm which gradually

Food Myths are Exposed

Fish and celery are not brain foods. Beets do not build blood, and yogurt does not keep the young. This is an article in the January Reader's Digest which also explores these and many other long-accepted theories about the food we eat.

The writer, Frederick J. Stare, a professor of nutrition, says he has been asked a thousand such questions by readers of his syndicated column. And there is little difference between querying from people of modest schooling and those from college graduates. Indeed, says Stare, "I am beginning to think the better educated a man is, the greater his skill in summing up pseudo-science to support the latest food 'fad'."

In few instances, the seemingly un-canny powers of certain foods have been scientifically explained. We now know, for example, that iron or lemon-curd cereals because of their vitamin C content. Iron polishes prevent beriberi by reason of the vitamin B1, or thiamine, they provided. In ancient treatment for gonorrhea was dried or burned sponge, a rich source of iodine.

However, according to the article, a half-truth or a distorted scientific fact sometimes will give rise to a food myth. For instance, many believe that steak will make you strong. Certainly it is rich in good-quality protein. But so are fish, eggs, milk — and overcooked steak.

Contrary to popular myth, there is no reason to increase your consumption of vitamins as you grow older. They serve primarily to help metabolize food and to produce energy. Since build and repair body tissues. Since total food intake diminishes (or should diminish) with the years, the elderly in general have less need for vitamins than younger folk. At any age,

Service, junior grade

Demand for services does not seem at the moment to be diminishing; employment in service industries, where people work for pay, is on the increase according to labor statistics, and it is suspected that there are always jobs left unfilled in those areas where people work for love.

Strangely, in spite of the great community efforts of the men's service clubs, in the youth field girls are far more apt than boys to be engaged in good works. Why should service be at that age seem all too often to be a feminine prerogative?

In a hospital in a small city young volunteers (female), dressed in pink and who are known as candy-strewn, are developing a sense of community responsibility and making a contribution of time and effort. There is no comparable group, although in that hospital the snack bar, for instance, depends on volunteer help and there is no reason why boys could not take their turn in its staffing.

Some months back it was reported that boys in one neighbourhood had become a "troublehouse element." There was a meeting with municipal authorities at which the boys were invited to voice their complaints. Their complaints were distilled into the age-old cry of youth: "There's nothing we can do!"

It is not likely that the solution will be found. Ignorance seeps into knowledge, but passes into it through an intermediate state of obscurity, even as night into day through twilight. — Coleridge.

This Day 25 Years Ago

JANUARY 20, 1940
War raises county taxes
As its contribution towards the successful prosecution of the present war, Victoria County Council yesterday voted the addition of one mill to the present tax rate. The sum of money raised in this manner for patriotic purposes will be roughly $19,000.

In making the motion to levy the one mill, Rev. Charles Logan of Verulam said: "Let's not compromise. Let the rest of the country know that Victoria County is solidly behind the prosecution of this war. The boys who enlisted didn't compromise."

Wart OPP at Cobocook
County Council occurred in a resolution sponsored by two Reeves from the northern part of the county that the Attorney-General's Department be petitioned to have one of the two provincial Constables now stationed at Cobocook.

"There are many accidents which occur in the north country which are never even reported," Rev. Percy Carson of Buxley stated.

Fire battalion wiped out—Reds claim
The Leinster military headquarters of the Russian Army reported early today a Finnish battalion was "annihilated" at Kiteles, on the northern shores of Lake Ladoga.

he to build million-dollar recreation centres on all the corners where the pool halls used to be, although this is not to imply that such centres are not beneficial. There is nothing wrong in recreation, of which everyone needs a certain amount.

A long time ago, however, civilised societies discovered that there is greater merit in doing things for others. Humankind in the youth field girls are far more apt than boys to be engaged in good works where everything is paid for and where even the charitable impulse is satisfied by making a cash donation.

There should be left a place for service. The boys should have a part in it. They don't seem to want to wait until they are old enough to be Rotarians or to join the Kiwanis Club.

HOLLYWOOD

Hollywood (UPI) — Robert Stack, who has been shooting at gangsters on television for years, finally hit something in real life — a lion.

Fortunately for him he didn't miss. Lion's fight back when shot. Actors don't.

Stack's lion hunt took place in "The deepest heart of Africa," as they say in old movies. The hunt took place last year, and now that Stack is back "in the deepest heart" of

Hollywood, film of his gunning down a big cat will be on AITV's Jan. 31 show, "The American Sportsman."

Stack is familiar with weapons on two counts. Professionally, he was a crack shot on the "Untouchables," personally he's an award winning skeet shooter.

Bob's lion shot will be part of the ABC-TV show. Other films from his Safari to Africa will be shown later this season. Stack was accompanied on his War II ace and now commissioner of the American Football League. Foss shot an elephant.

"The stuff we shot were rogue animals who would have been shot anyway," Stack said. Stack's head game was won in Kenya with a doe's elephant had only one trunk and had been killing the cattle and scaring native people from the water hole. The lion I shot had killed six of the cattle."

Bob said the film is realistic, not a cut and dried travelogue with a narrator pointing out items of interest. The only thing Bob wanted pointed out was the lion.

Besides Foss, Stack was accompanied by a hunter, tracker and cameraman.

The latter's hand-held camera gives viewers "the feeling you're there," said Stack.

"It's not an immediate hit," he continued. "It's not so much how good the film is or how dangerous the lion is."

Bob spent four weeks on the trip, an adventure he hopes to repeat some day.

"It was the greatest contact I ever went to," he said. "I can't wait to get back. That sounds heroic. It's not. You get out on those plains which are still like God made 'em, come back standing a foot higher, and it isn't the killing. If you never killed any thing, it wouldn't make any difference."

Although he shot the lion, Stack said he had help from resident hunters who pointed out the game.

With outpour unknown for a star, Bob said, "This is a story of an actor not knowing what he's doing much of the time."

You couldn't prove that remark after seeing the deal lion.

Slides shown at Kiwanis anniversary

Members of the Lindsay Kiwanis Club watched film slides depicting the progress of the club since its inception in 1916 and the aims of the club for future years. The film slides were shown at a special luncheon of the Kiwanis Club to mark its Golden Anniversary. The comments for Grand projectivist was Kiwanian Bill Capell.

Club members also listened attentively to a recorded address by the National President of Kiwanis International.

NOT PICKETS

Chaper. Wyo. (UPI) — Casper, Wyo. Attorney Ray Whitaker, who has been carrying signs in front of a Rawlins, Wyo., construction site yesterday, were picketing.

They were "informational pickets" and not pickets," said Whitaker. The signs accused the construction firm of refusing to hire qualified men from Wyoming.

WOMAN TO WOMAN

PATRICIA MCCORMACK

New York (UPI) — Drivers in the 15 to 24 age bracket tend to heed the precautions about safety on the road.

Motor vehicle accidents take a greater number of lives in that age group than at any other decade of life — and the toll is expected to reach new high levels as the population of adolescents and young adults in the United States continues to expand.

The auto crashes account for nearly two-fifths of the mortality among those 15 to 24, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. notes in its current statistical bulletin.

In 1963, for example, auto accidents accounted for about 11,200 deaths of the 15 to 24 year olds.

That is equivalent to a rate of 40.4 per 100,000. For males alone, the rate is about 50 deaths per 100,000 population in that age group.

Increases in motor vehicle deaths are expected to occur in the entire range of ages from 15 to 24, but because of fluctuations in the annual number of births during and after World War II, statistical projections, the number fatally injured at 15 to 19 will rise from about 5,000 in 1967 to — or a little over one-fifth in seven years.

At ages 20 to 24, the increase in deaths is expected to be from 5,700 to 7,750, or more than a third.

The sharper uptrend among young adults reflects mainly the fact that population at ages 20 to 24 is expected to increase by 4.5 million between 1963 and 1970, compared with a rise of 3.4 million at 15 to 19 years, the statisticians reported.

These projections may prove to be too conservative," was noted in the bulletin "with population increase — as well as the increase in the proportion of young people being licensed to drive."

With more than 3.5 million boys and girls a year reaching age 18 by 1970, the outlook

Merchants tame Tigers 8-5 Tie Ti-Cats for first place

Lindsay Merchants are currently tied for first place in the Central Ontario Junior Hockey League as a result of their four point win at Aurora while Stouffville Clippers upset Bob-caycons 4-3 last night.

The Merchants made a slow start in building up their four point win as the Tigers led 4-2 at the end of the first period. Doug Broad all but shut the door in the final two periods, allowing one goal in the third period.

First period goals by Rick Purdy and Gord Frocking for the Merchants, and Tiger goals by Wayne Hill, Bruce Graham, Jack Wray, and Jack Foran came from sustained ranging attacks at both ends. Only one penalty was called in the period twelve seconds before the end to George Graham for boarding. The first Lindsay goal gave Goodmakers no chance when a Tiger skater deflected the slider to the opposite side of the net. Wayne Hill tied the score for Aurora four minutes later when he flipped Jack Foran's rebound into the mesh 5:55.

A Lindsay goal was disallowed at 7:10 when it was batted in with a high stick.

Aurora took a one goal lead at 7:42 when Bruce Graham and Wayne Hill skated unopposed right to the Lindsay goal mouth. Gord Frocking matched that goal after Taylor and Yearwood had tested Goodmakers from close range, but the Tigers came back with two unanswered goals. Jack Wray scoring a drive through Doug Broad's pads at 15:46, and Jack Foran scored on a deflected shot from a corner facing four seconds after Graham's penalty.

Three unassisted goals foretold the pattern of the game when the Merchants bounced back with four goals in the middle frame. Tying the Tigers helplessly in their own end of the ice for minutes at a time, the Merchant snipers were stealing the puck off the fending sticks and firing at point blank range. Bob Taylor unassisted at 15:50, and Gord Frocking's second from Yearwood and Morasse at 16:23 tied the score. With Pat Flanagan serving the Tigers only penalty of the game, Ray McCabe got the first of his pair at 17:30. Horton was chased for crosschecking at 18:23 and the Merchants scored their sixth goal while short-handed. Bob Taylor tested in his second goal of the period on Frocking's pass out at 19:33 to end the period with a 6-4 lead.

The third period saw the Merchants add two goals to one by the Tigers. Gary Hefferman surprised Goodmakers with a short stab at 9:21. The Tigers scored their final goal at 16:18. Hill scoring from Graham and Foran. This goal was nullified sixteen seconds later when Horton cleared to Babcock who put Ray McCabe in the clear at the Aurora blue-line. Ray skated to the cross before flipping the puck high in the rigging. The Merchants finished the period two men short but still kept the play in the Aurora end of the ice.

1. Lindsay, Purdy from Yearwood, 1:43; 2. Aurora, Hill from Foran, 5:55; 3. Aurora, Graham from Hill, 7:45; 4. Lindsay, Frocking from Taylor and Yearwood, 11:01; 5. Aurora, Wray from Flanagan, 15:46; 6. Aurora, Foran from Flanagan, 16:23; 7. Lindsay, Taylor unassisted.

This year about 6,500,000 income tax returns will be processed in Ottawa. Each year the returns of thousands of new taxpayers add to the time and cost of processing. But now we've got a new system of processing tax returns faster and more economically. This is how it works. You will receive a Personalized income tax form, sent direct to you instead of through your employer. (Makes it more convenient for you, faster for us.) This new tax form will have your own identification code number on it. Numbers mean quicker and more positive identification than names. Think of the 41,000 Smiths in Canada. There's a way you can make this new system even better. Get your income tax form completed and in the mail early. You'll give us something to smile about.

SEEK PROFESSIONAL HELP IN ROOM PLANNING, ARCHITECT TELLS GUILD

"If you have 300.00 with which to furnish a room, spend it all on one piece and sit on orange crates." Such was the advice of Lindsay's well-known architect, speaking to the Art Guild at the first 1965 meeting. His subject, Furnishing and Decorating a House in these Modern Times, gave his audience an understanding of the importance of quality and good interior design.

When a woman wants to decorate a house, the speaker said, she usually seeks the advice of a salesman in home furnishings, whose aim is to sell merchandise for the store in which he works. But wherever possible the professional help of an interior designer should be sought, as an amateur is not qualified to make a planned lay-out by which to work and toward which to aim he claimed.

In a brief study of the people who have most influenced the history of decorating, Mr. Ridpath mentioned Thomas Chippendale, an 18th century gentleman concerned with making five individual pieces of furniture. This was also the case of Sheraton, his contemporary. The works of both are still the most copied of all domestic furnishings. Sir William Kent was an 18th century English architect who brought about a unified style, relating the outside and the inside of the houses he was commissioned to design.

In furnishing the modern home, the speaker suggested one should begin with an empty room, then develop an overall plan of groupings and accessories. These should be carefully chosen, and might include pottery, fabric, paintings or tapestries. These are the incidents of decorating and are the items which complement, or complete, a room. They do not serve any useful purpose, as a rule. It is with these that a decorator is concerned with contrasts that add such dramatic effect to a scheme, he said.

During the talk many plan and layouts were handed around and coloured slides of interiors showed the realization of the plans. A fine display of accessories included paintings by Franklin A. Repp, Frank Johnson, Jack Barbra, Barbara Mercer and a jewel-like enamel-on-copper plaque by the Pickles of Peterborough.

President Nellie King introduced the speaker. She announced the coming of Paul Bennett, head of the Ontario Art Institute, on February 17, with an exhibit of paintings from a large collection.

Mrs. McDuffie and her committee served refreshments at the lecture.

CLOSE SHAVE
Aurora, Colo. (UPI) — Three junior high school students, who had been under pressure from school authorities to get their Beutle-like hair trimmed, came to school yesterday with scalps shaved like Yul Brynner.

"We have had a campaign on recently to get the boys to keep their hair neater and closer cut," said assistant principal M. C. Thompson. "We didn't think that things would go this far."

Cabinet studies OFU request for probe into FAME

The Ontario government is studying a request for a judicial inquiry into FAME's (Farmers' Allied Meat Enterprises Co-operative Ltd.) Agriculture Minister William Stewart said Monday.

The request from the Ontario Farmers' Union was passed to the cabinet last week, said Mr. Stewart. The co-operative agreed last year to buy the F.W. Pearson Co. Ltd. meat-packing plant at Burlington for $3,500,000 with a $1,500,000 down payment in August. Another $1,000,000 was due in November but the co-operative failed to raise the money despite an extension in time.

"BEST A SECOND"

Mrs. McDuffie and her committee served refreshments at the lecture.

CAN'T AFFORD COOK
London (UPI) — Lord Mowbray, 69, Premier Baron of England and descendant of what was once the richest, most powerful family in the country, is converting his Yorkshire manor into a luxury apartments "for their economic necessity."

NEWS FROM THE LC

by "The Post" Collegiate reporter Richard Bruce

WIN 1, LOSE 2 IN BASKETBALL

On Friday evening, January 15, the bantam, junior and senior basketball teams from East Cobourg travelled to Lindsay for a three-game evening. In the first game, the bantams defeated Cobourg 40 to 9.

In the bantam game, Lindsay led 13 to 1 at the end of the first quarter, 24 to 11 at the end of the first half. The third quarter was the big one for the Lindsay team as they outscored East Cobourg 27 to 13 and led 51 to 14 at the end of the third quarter. This onslaught by the Lindsay seniors seemed to break the spirit of Cobourg. The Lindsay seniors accurate East Cobourg team completely dominated the fourth quarter outscoring the local boys, 24 to 4. High scorer for Lindsay was Lee East Cobourg travelled to Lindsay for a three-game evening. In the first game, the bantams defeated Cobourg 40 to 9.

In the senior game, Cobourg East led all the way once again. At the end of the half they led 32 to 16. The two big quarters for Cobourg were the second and third when they outscored Lindsay 21 to 11 and 16 to 4 respectively. High scorers for Lindsay were Wylie with 9, Johnston with 13 and B. Davis and Flanndon with 10 each. Officials for the games were G. Bennett, P. Parson and S. Kent.

The Student Council of the LCVJ has been organized for approximately four years. They have been striving to make every venture a success and to this date have succeeded in doing so. They sponsored the special Christmas Dance "Country Christmas", and for the first time in several years made a profit on the venture. Other years the Student Council have lost up to $100, but this year, under the supervision of the hard-working, dedicated President, the Student Council managed to make $50 on the dance.

be a financial success. They pointed out that the council lost $150 on the formal last year, but on this occasion a strict budget will be maintained. A final date has yet to be selected but it will probably be before the Easter holidays.

The Student Council does have its problems, as do all organizations. Some members at the last meeting were not pleased by the request for payment for boys prefect bars and suggested someone from the Prefect Society present the facts of the matter to Student Council. Another problem was the question of assemblies. Members of Council noted the Constitution calls for an assembly once a month. Several members said that there has been only two assemblies this year. The Student Council is trying to promote these assemblies and they deserve the support of the various clubs and associations of the school.

Suggestion boxes have been used by students but could be used more. The Student Council is there for you, the student to carry out your ideas. For instance the council is trying to obtain music in the halls before 9:00. If you have any ideas let your Student Council representative or place them in the suggestion boxes in the library.

Miss Rody and Mr. Barkey are the main teachers to officiate at meetings. They are well liked by the Student Council and doing a fine job.

not estimate the value in dollars. He said there was nothing in the barn when the fire broke out. Mr. Donald was working in the barn when it was turned into the alarm, which was turned on just before 1 p.m., and battled the blaze for four hours before a snowstorm. The cause of the fire has not yet been determined and no estimate of the damage is available.

Deputy Fire Chief Mr. John McLeod of Kirkfield said the weather was cold and snowing at the time of the fire. He said there was a strong wind blowing from the west and the wind was blowing away from it. He said the house was some distance from the barn.

BOY met the "greatest man"

London (UPI) — A London
Newspaper today re-told writer
W. Somerset Maugham's four-month story of his close, longtime friend, Sir Winston Churchill.

Daily Mail writer Godfrey
Winn said Maugham got Churchill himself to confirm the story of the small boy who came to lunch at Churchill's country home on his mother's promise that he would meet the greatest man in the world.

Churchill felt unwell, however, and didn't show up for lunch. As they left, the mother said she was sorry her son didn't see "The Greatest Man".

"But I did see him," Maugham told the boy replied. "There was a man taking a tray along the corridor so I followed him and went in behind him into the room."

"There was an old gentleman in bed, and I went up behind him and said to him,
'Are you the greatest man in the world?'"

"And he looked at me very straight and said, 'Yes, I am.
Now you push off.'"

Lindsay residents
enjoy Florida tour

While Lindsay residents have been experiencing the rigours of winter with severe blasts of wind and the occasional fall of snow in sub-zero weather, a host of fellow Lindsay citizens has been travelling the highways of sunny Florida. Several stopovers were made in many parts of the state.

One of the stopovers was at Daytona Beach where there happens to be a small colony of Lindsay and district people. The travelling visitors included on different flights and a postcard from Mrs. Sid Eliden expresses their delight at renewing acquaintances with the hometown folk and hearing the news.

Some members of the travelling Lindsay residents included in their plans a visit to Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Quinn at Port Myers and a visit to other residents at St. Petersburg.

Toronto rector to celebrate modern "Folk Mass" at local Anglican Church, January 31

The Eucharistic service at St. Paul's Anglican Church will take on a new, modern appearance with the introduction of modern music provided by an orchestra on January 31. "The 20th Century Folk Mass" will be celebrated by Dr. Roland Hill, rector of St. George's Anglican Church in Burlington, accompanied by the orchestra and members of St. Paul's Young People's Choir. The Mass is being brought to Lindsay by the Lindsay branch of the Anglican Young People's Association to defy the transportation costs of about $800 to bring the choir and orchestra from Toronto.

The local AYPA have undertaken to find hillels for the Sabbath times which could even mean the visitors properly be called a Church Mass.

Teacher honoured during first year

Nestleton (PNS) - R. Douglas Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Davidson, Nestleton, in his first year of teaching in the Chatham school system, has been named by the Board of Education to be acting head of the Geography department of the John McGregor Secondary School.

J. G. Griffith, Director of Education, said the appointment became effective January 4, 1985, the day school resumed in the new year.

Mr. Davidson who intends to make his career in secondary school teaching, last year completed a post graduate course in Geography at the University of Western Ontario.

He graduated from Waterloo University College in June of 1981 and during the next school year of 1981-82 he taught at Carletonville High School in Blackstock, Ontario. It was from this High School he had graduated for university

PERKISTANT FELLOW
Barnet, England, (UPI) - Ten minutes after he was banned from driving for six months on conviction of dangerous driving, Vincent Ronald Bromley was arrested - driving his car.
Haled back to court he was immediately jailed for three months and banned from the roads for a year, for driving while disqualified.

It is a Eucharistic service with a modern Mass set to modern music. The choir consists of between 45 and 60 young people accompanied by their own orchestra. The presentation will be different from any Eucharistic service previously witnessed in St. Paul's Lindsay.
Admission will be by ticket; there is no charge for the tickets, which may be obtained from AYPA members, church wardens or Rev. D. E. Lemon. A collection will be taken up following the service to defray the transportation costs of about $800 to bring the choir and orchestra from Toronto.

Rudeness can be contagious anywhere, but in traffic it becomes highly dangerous. A pedestrian who ambles slowly and deliberately across an intersection when he could walk at a faster pace is inviting trouble. He could tire people and send motorists on a quest for a disaster. A pedestrian who makes a motorist angry could well be guilty of killing. Think of that the next time you start to walk across a street.

by "The Post" Fenelon Fells Collegiate reporter Ron Baill

At a recent meeting of the 20, due to the Basketball still going strong. The second Student Council, I was appointed to the post for Public Relations. The main point of this is to compile a weekly column for "The Post".

To make matters less complicated for myself, I have organized a group of other reporters to do all the writing. They are: Boys' Sports — Ron McInnis; Girls' Sports — Kay Weaver; Drama Club — Jim Goodman and Student Council reports will be written by myself. Other clubs such as the Library Club, School Spirit Committee, etc., will report activities of interest from time to time.

Our staff advisor is Mr. Kennedy of the English Department.

So here goes for the first week. Comments invited.

Thirteen FAME directors resign — nine are re-elected later

Thirteen of 18 directors of Farmers' Allied Meat Entering resigned last week after being criticised for an apparent loss of $1,500,000 but nine of them were later re-elected.

President Clayton Grey of Sarnia resigned at a meeting attended by over 500 delegates and refused to stand for re-election. No one was elected to replace him.

Shareholders asked the provincial government to guarantee a bank loan for FAME equivalent to the apparent value of the F. W. Pearman Packing Co. Ltd., which it agreed to purchase last year for $3,500,000.

FAME paid $1,500,000 in August and was to pay another $1,000,000 on November 30th but failed to raise the money.

The deadline was extended to January 4th but payment was not made. The provincial government turned down FAME's application for the second payment.

The Pearman plant has now reverted to its previous owner, R. G. Gunter of England.

Newly elected to the board were Clifford Johnston, Peterboro, Harold Schmidt, Baden, and Kevin Becker, Ayr. The directors are expected to vote for a new replacement President.

Directors who resigned and were re-elected were: Marilyn Baker, Stouffville; Wilfred Bishop, Norwich; N. J. Hill, Delhi; Ormond Pritham, Lantz; Lorne Wietlaufer, Newmarket; John Laventure, Glasgow Station; Wilson Anderson, Stratford.

Directors defeated after resigning were: Little Brian, Anderson, Guelph; Carl Hemingway, Brussels.

Directors who did not resign are Charles McInnis, Ingersoll, a former president; Morley not made. The provincial government turned down FAME's application for the second payment.

Fame

It is reported thirteen of the 15 directors of Farmers Alliance National Enterprises Co-operative Ltd. resigned Friday after being criticized for an appropriation of $1,500,000, but nine of them were later re-elected.

At the meeting shareholders in the United Counties said that the provincial government guarantees a bank loan for FAME equal to the appraised value of the F. W. Pearmain Packing Co. Ltd. FAME agreed to purchase last year for $3,500,000.

FAME paid $1,500,000 in August and September and $1,000,000 in November 30 but failed to raise the money. In total FAME received four extensions of time but was unable to pay for the plant which reverted to its previous owner E. R. Gunner, an Ontario meat packer.

This means 13,000 Ontario farmers have lost their $3,500,000 down payment on the plant, however Mr. Gunner has agreed to let the provincial government the whole question if FAME's financial position changes appreciably over the next three months. "If we are morally obliged to do something, it would be difficult not to help them," he added.

Probably FAME would have to find $2,000,000, reports "The Rural Co-operative", in addition to last $500,000.

We are sorry that the investors in FAME have apparently lost their money but it is not their fault. The provincial government should be asked to float a loan. It is up to the co-operative movement in Canada to get behind the farmers who are now in trouble. FAME crisis. These farmers are not the first to have lost money in co-operations but they are the first to have lost the establishment of the Rochdale Society of Equitable Pioneers in 1844 in Rochdale, England. The first co-operative movement, hundreds of others have followed.

More money, more jobs in 1970

Ottawa, (UPI)—The economic Council of Canada said Tuesday the average Canadian will be making more money in 1970 than in 1969. The average living with more educational and job opportunities for his children by 1970.

"He will be earning more—23.8 per cent more than now—and there will be an added 15 million jobs available for him," the council said. "The average man will also have more income growth rate between 1924-63."

"He will be earning more—he will spend more. Per capita consumption, based on an annual three per cent growth rate over the seven-year period, will reach $1,775—almost double the average per capita consumption of the late 1920s."

The average Canadian will have more neighbours, with the urbanization driving continuing and population exodus to the suburbs. The average urban growth will thrive on greater residential construction, with emphasis on apartment construction.

The urbanization trend also will mean improved roads, streets and highways. The council said that improvements are expected to be increased by a 33 per cent increase in the number of motor vehicles being in use.

Of immediate interest to the average Canadian will be the council's call for a 10 per cent increase in the tax on the stress on the rate for a tax cut. And in the long run, tax rates will be cut.

But Mr. Canada, if he is earning more, also will pay more, despite the fact that the council said that the Council, in forecasting the next seven years, estimates that government expenditures will almost double from the present $12,000,000,000 to $24,000,000,000.

Unemployment shows—as an expected 7,382,000 in the labour force by 1970—unemployment is expected to drop to 4.5 per cent, or 4,500,000, realistic goal of three per cent jobs.

Mr. Canada will have problems in the staff to do the work. The technical skill will become more and more important, and old jobs will disappear. The government's greater flexibility from the present will be needed to adapt himself to new working conditions.

Education itself, while becoming more available, may be hampered by a lack of qualified teachers, professors and administrators. The council said with concern that the average Canadian was less qualified than his American peers had failed and thousands of people lost money. Early socialist Robert Owen constructed a co-operative community in New Harmony, Scotland, under co-operative principles with nonprofiting stores which failed, and then established in 1825 the United Communities of New Harmony, Ind. and the National Equitable Labour Exchange and other co-operative societies (trading goods for labour, which were also deemed to fail).

After a shaky start, FAME took many months to gather reasonable working capital, but never raised sufficient money to start plant construction. By the end of June FAME had raised $5,250,710 ($1,600,000 in cash and $3,650,000 in debentures). However, almost $1,000,000 of this money was spent on general purchase, fees, collection and administration expenses.

Thus, there was no money left to complete the Pearmain plant purchase. The FAME organization bought the Pearmain plant as an alternative to building one at Ayr which would have cost close to $4,000,000.

The purchase was considered a quick way of bringing FAME members into the sackhouse business. For some time there had been unrest among shareholders because of lack of action on the part of the directors.

We now FAME must look to the co-operatives for help rather than the provincial government. The provincial government turned down FAME down when it tried to raise funds for the second payment on January 4th.

As we said earlier, we do not like to see the provincial government take over the FAME crisis. These farmers are not the first to have lost money in co-operations but they are the first to have lost the establishment of the Rochdale Society of Equitable Pioneers in 1844 in Rochdale, England. Can counterpoint in education.

To meet this challenge, a large share of government revenues will be put into education. The average Canadian will be making more money in 1970 than in 1969. The average living with more educational and job opportunities for his children by 1970.

"He will be earning more—23.8 per cent more than now—and there will be an added 15 million jobs available for him," the council said. "The average man will also have more income growth rate between 1924-63."

A Bobcaygeon Man, Gordon Grant Pogue 35, was sentenced to three years in the Kingston Penitentiary when he was convicted before Magistrate Ian Munro in Lindsay Police Court today on the theft of an automobile. Additional concurrent sentences were imposed on conviction on a charge of forger and seven counts of false pretenses as well.

The accused told the court he had a drinking problem and said alcohol was the cause of these and previous charges. He said when he drank he lost all sense of responsibility. He said this was all one continued escapade. Mr. Pogue said he travelled from one area to another, "almost everywhere."

He said he completed his high school education in Kingston. "I had high aspirations when I came out," he said.

Magistrate Munro handed down concurrent sentences totalling 10 years for passing worthless cheques in Lindsay, Cobourg, Stratford, Kilmount and Toronto.

Evidence showed the accused went to the Avis Rent-A-Car Limited in Toronto and told the attendant there he wanted a car the following day because his car was in a local garage for repairs. He left a $25 deposit. On November 27, the day he was to return the car, he phoned the company and requested permission to keep the car for the weekend because his vehicle was still not repaired. He told the company representative he would forward another deposit. Constable Jean DeLaunier said he did not contact the car-rental agency again nor did he return the car. Constable DeLaunier of the Bobcaygeon OPP said on December 25 he proceeded to Pogue's residence, where his parents also live, and saw a car that answered to the description of the vehicle reported missing by the car-rental company. He said he went back to get the chief constable of the village and when they returned to Pogue's residence the car was gone. He said it was later found parked behind Pogue's Service Station (the owner of the garage is an uncle of the accused).

Rev. and Mrs. M. C. Fisher entertained the minister of the local churches and their families at an afternoon party following the holiday season. Mrs. Fisher also entertained her neighbours at an afternoon tea after Christmas.

enger's side, the constable said. He said the accused admitted the vehicle had belonged to Avis Rent-A-Car. Constable DeLaunier said the accused told him he had gone to Michigan in the Jaguar and it broke down and after the owner was unable to go down to pick it up, Pogue rented a car in Toronto and returned to the border. He said he got as far as Windsor and the money he had to get the Jaguar had been mostly spent on liquor. He said he was staying at a motel in the Windsor area and realized the police would be looking for the car so he put on the U.S. marker he found near the motel.

Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan said he could not accept that a bottle was behind it all. He told the accused he was astute enough to change the plates on the car.

The accused questioned, "Do you think it was astute or panicky?" When the Crown Attorney said he thought the man was astute the accused replied, "I wish I were."

Magistrate Munro said passing bogus cheques was an easy living and told the accused that that concern were considered to be the intelligence of criminals because they were able to convince "hard-headed businessmen" to accept their cheques.

VICTORIA COUNTY LEADS THE WAY UNDER THE AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT GUIDANCE

The many ways in which the Ontario Department of Agriculture extension branches come to the assistance of those occupied in the many phases of agriculture are seldom fully realized. Not only in providing facilities and promoting displays and sales of agricultural products, but also the many sources of accurate advice in any farm problem arrived at by actual trial at experimental stations by providing bulletins on all phases of agricultural operations, as well as personal advice by specially trained personnel both in the field and in the office are but a few of the benefits available to those who enquire.

Victoria County was one of the first municipalities provided with this trained help. In 1907 Mr. F. H. Reed became agricultural representative in Victoria County. During the first year he taught in school part time but field work demanded his full attention during the second year of his term in Victoria County.

Mr. D. A. MacKenzie succeeded F. H. Reed in 1909 followed by A. A. Knight in March 1913. M. H. Winter succeeded Mr. Knight in 1926 and gave willingly of his time and talent until his retirement July 31st, 1948. The present county representative is LeRoy Brown now in his seventeenth year.

ASSISTANTS

Assistant representatives have been elected to the County over the 56 year span to include A. A. Knight in 1909 to 1910 and J. G. Taggart 1911 to W. T. Hunter 1912 and 1913, to H. R. SAUERBRAUTEN — AN INEXPENSIVE GOURMET DELIGHT

Loss tender cuts of beef such as round steak, chuck roasts or rump roasts are wise buys if they are cooked ed properly to make them tender and juicy. Long, slow cooking in simmering liquid is an excellent way to tenderize meat. But for a special treat, try sauerbraten or corned beef. A German dish with a tangy flavor. In this recipe, marinating the beef in vinegar helps to tenderize it.

HOW CAN I ???
By Anne Ashall
Q. How can I get more "mileage" from my sandpaper?
A. Brush it with a stiff, scrubbing brush when the surface of the paper becomes clogged with powdered wood or paint. After a good brushing, you'll generally find that your sandpaper will "cut" again.
Q. How can I remove metal stains from sheets or linens?
A. Apply a paste of fuller's earth and ammonia to the stains, leave on until dry, then wash the stains out with cold water. After the coldwater treatment, launder in the usual manner.
Q. How can I do a good job of mending a torn lace curtain?
A. Try taping a piece of Starched net over the hole.

Group arranges uniform "exchange" for Boy Scouts

St. Mary's scout group, 2nd Lindsay, is starting a uniform exchange designed to put existing uniforms to good use. The main depot is St. Mary's school although it is understood, Mrs. J. W. Widdows, of the Ladies' Auxiliary for the town is handling the exchange. Money by the county would insure uniforms and reselling them to boys in the scouting movement would not be a problem. Since a scout uniform doesn't get a great deal of use and is worn for only a few months, some consider it not worth while to invest in a complete new uniform.

This system, if it proves successful, may be introduced in other parts of the county. It is understood no profit is being made by the group for handling the uniforms. The plan makes it less expensive to be a uniformed scout.

STORM SEWERS AND WASTE FROM INDUSTRIES CAUSE SCUGOG RIVER POLLUTION AT LINDSAY

Although Lindsay has acquired a waste stabilization pond for the treatment of sewage flows, it is obvious that a considerable quantity of sewage is discharged through municipal storm sewer outlets to the Scugog River, and, therefore, does not receive treatment. Also, there are objectionable flows from some industrial plants.

This is the view expressed in a report of a water pollution survey of the Victoria County town carried out by the Ontario Water Resources Commission during the summer of 1964. The report has just been released publicly by the OWRC.

The report added "it is gratifying to report that the local officials are aware of the conditions and are pursuing a programme to rectify these problems."

It was reported that there was an intermittent discharge of sewage from the "big ditch" which terminates at the river upstream from the municipal water purification plant. The discharge takes during periods of surface run off. Effective control of this localized problem must be exerted if the conscientious programme pursued by the Lindsay Board of Water Commissioners to protect the quality of the municipal water supply was to be successful.

The river received objectionable flows from some industrial plants. Some had attempted industrial waste treatment. It was evident that additional effort would be necessary to control the quality of industrial waste discharges.

The report recommended Lindsay should continue its comprehensive programme to direct all sanitary wastes and most industrial waste flows to the municipal waste stabilization pond. This would include the exclusion of untreated or inadequately treated waste from storm sewers and surface drainage systems which discharge to watercourses.

Where manufacturing firms discharged industrial wastes directly to watercourses, adequate treatment of these wastes should be provided in order to minimize the overall degree of severe effect in the receiving waters.

WOMAN'S VIEW

By Gay Pauly

New York (UPI) — There research programme with the stands at Shin Ai, four miles from Seoul, an unusual home plan to set aside space at Valing development born of the war and supported by a group of women who mostly know Korea as a small area on the world map.

The village is home for 48 Korean widows, whose husbands were killed fighting the North Korean Communists 1950-53, and their 138 dependant children and parents.

It's a project unique in Korea, said Mrs. William Hasbrock, the West Point, N.H., woman who is president of the 11-million member General Federation of Women's Clubs (GFWO).

Mrs. Hasbrock knows the village, for the federation is providing the money for the construction of its earth block houses, built by the families with technical advice from the American-Korean Foundation.

As a house is finished, a family moves in and the place is theirs "with no strings attached," she said.

Mrs. Hasbrock has just returned from an Asian trip which included stops in Pormos, Japan, The Philippines, Hong Kong and Korea.

At Shin Ai, she snipped ribbons opening several of the houses, the first homes other than makeshift shanties the families have had since the North Koreans moved south. The American-Korean Foundation estimates the cost of one of the earth block houses—including cement, windows and doors, lumber, nails and roof tiles—at $149.35. Mrs. Hasbrock added that certainly furnishing them was inexpensive to the Koreans, low tables and mats are about all that are needed.

"A decorator would have an awful time," she said.

The Korean homes are one of four projects the federation is taking on during Mrs. Hasbrock's administration. The others are a technical school training programme in the Mediterranean area, operated through CARE; a continuing

County Council Notes

An interesting point arose when Reeve Morrison of Markham was appointed as county representative on the Children's Aid Society, a position he has filled well for a number of years. Reeve Morrison said he did not mind attending the meetings but it limited it was too far to drive to Peterboro, for instance, to attend a joint meeting of the two counties to discuss a Central Board for the two counties. He thought there might be a number of such meetings this year. When questioned, he said that he was not allowed mileage, and relocated he was not well mileage.

Deputy-Reeve Coak of Elton thought that no member of council should have to attend meetings for the number of miles travelled.

"Let's forget it," observed Reeve Morrison, "I didn't raise the point for that purpose. Perhaps some council member living nearer to Peterboro could serve on this committee." Reeve Campbell of Wood-

Town Planning

If Lindsay is going to grow and develop in the future in an orderly fashion without suffering from by-laws and regulations, the municipality must have a suitable town plan and by-law.

Lindsay is in the last stages of passing the proposed zoning by-law and we feel this will benefit citizens generally. The town has had a town plan of 1957, but to amend it to this plan to meet changing conditions, it was necessary each time to submit requests for changes to the Department of Municipal Affairs and the minister. With the new plan and zoning by-law council will be able to make necessary changes to meet the needs of changes without the long and tedious procedure of appealing to the Municipal Board.

This particular plan has been exhaustively studied for three years by the Planning Board, Planning Department and council. If any property owner who is being subjected to hardship he can appeal to council and if we are sure they will give the appeal fair consideration. Presently, objections can only be made with regard to February 5th before the plan is finally passed and implemented.

FATHER REMEMBERS WHEN

This Day 25 Years Ago

JANUARY 27, 1940
Overcome by coal gas—dies
Rushed to the Ross Memorial Hospital, in an unconscious condition, 68-year-old George Blanchard, of St. George, died yesterday without regaining consciousness, as the result of being overcome by gas in his home. Mrs. Blanchard, who also suffered as a result of the gassing, is still in hospital where it is believed she is recovering. Becoming alarmed at the absence of any life in the home of the elderly couple, neighbours proceeded to investigate and finding the door locked, broke it down to be met with the fumes of coal gas.

Mrs. and Mrs. Blanchard were both found in a bedroom in an unconscious condition. Mrs. Blanchard was lying half way across the bed as though he had tried to get up but had been overcome. Mrs. Blanchard was still in bed.

Dr. Clever McLeann was summoned and had the couple removed to the Ross Memorial Hospital at Lindsay, but Mrs. Blanchard failed to rally and died shortly after admission to hospital.

Got You Taped!

Famed for its monuments and historic buildings, haunted castles, old inns and old treasures, Britain is to welcome the 1965 visitors—on tape. It looks as though the patient guide to parties of eighteenthers is to have an easier time in future, for transcribed tape recordings of British history, with ear plugs for private listening, are now being prepared for world visitors.

This year two recorded systems were tried out, one in the Duxton Gallery at the British Museum, where the famed Elgin marbles are on show, and a second at St. Paul's Cathedral, which is one of the most popular sights of London—although it is very often said, with a certain amount of truth, that the visitor knows more about the cathedral than does the Londoner.

The taped guides for world visitors are likely to extend this year into Windsor Castle, the out-of-town home of Britain's Kings and Queens for centuries, and at Beaulieu, in Hampshire, where is housed the world's most famous collection of old cars. In fact, the new dimension in sightseeing is likely to develop considerably in Britain during the coming year.

The Houses of Parliament and Big Ben as they stand today in London date from 1859. They replace the earlier Palace of Westminster which was destroyed by fire in 1834. The debating chamber was destroyed by an enemy bomb during the war, but it has since been restored to its original condition.—British Travel Association picture.

January Sales in Moscow

Moscow (UPI)—Westerners are used to the delights of winter sales. Now Soviet shoppers are getting a taste of them for the first time.

The novelty begins with a huge sign that decorates a select number of stores in this snowy capital.

It says simply, "Sale of Goods at Lowered Prices."

These days the sign has a double meaning. It means a pretty fair deal for the consumer and the best of a bad deal for the state.

For this is not just a sale to get rid of high-quality, useful, elegant surplus goods.

This is a sale—going on throughout the country—to get rid of unsold goods valued at more than the fabulous sum of $2 billion.

They didn't sell at the old prices because they were over-priced, or badly designed or out of fashion.

The new Kremlin regime has decided the time has come to do something about this huge excess whose total value is equivalent to two per cent of the national annual budget.

On the one hand, they have slashed the prices in hopes of selling off the goods. On the other, they have begun a drive to improve the Russian consumer goods industry.

How has it worked?

In the cut-price department of Moscow's central market, which this respondent visited, business was brisk. But it lacked the mad bustle of so many sales in New York or London.

"We have been selling at these lowered prices for more than two months," said one black-informed sales girl.

And I would say we have been selling well."

The cut-price department was stocked mainly with cameras, radios, dresses, leather goods, neckties and a very wide assortment of textiles.

Customers were crawling over the bins—were told in a circle on every angle. Some goods were obviously better than others.

Shoes were probably the least elegant wares. Especially the women's shoes. Prices of plain ones with clumsy heels were slashed from $25.99 to $15.99. Those formerly selling for $22.32 went down to $17.70.

Heavy woollen material was cut from $44 a meter (39 inches) to $20.50. Some of the lighter printed fabrics like rayon were priced at $4.40 down from $5.83.

A selection of multicoloured, striped ties—which were not getting many bids—were laid out in a circle on a table at about 33 cents apiece.

Leather bags, including a number of nicely turned-out pigskin ones, were selling for as little as $1.40 down from eight or $17.60 down from $20.

All this is definitely interesting to the worker whose average wage is about $11.9 a month.

As the sales continue, a series of fascinating discussions are being made about the state of the long neglected consumer goods industry.

One of the most sensational tidbits is that 400 shoe and light goods factories are being told by the authorities to operate on the profit motive.

The idea is to stimulate the desire to produce more efficiently and to produce better goods. Russians hope it all means better times are coming.

For tasty bites with afternoon tea when friends drop in, try the following two recipes.

RASIN CHERRY FUFFS
4 cups of raisins or currants
1 cup corn flakes
1 cup cornflake crumbs
1/4 cup to 1/2 cup soft butter or margarine
1 egg
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 cup flaked coconut
1/2 cup golden or white raisins
1/2 cup chopped cashews
If using corn flakes, crush in fine crumbs. Sift together flour and salt, mix with cornflake crumbs. Blend butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add dry ingredients; mix well. Stir in coconut, raisins and cashews. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) until golden brown, 20 to 25 minutes. Slice into bite-size pieces. Makes about three dozen.

HOW CAN I TRY?
Q. What can I do when I happen to run a finished fur surface with a hammer?
A. Sometimes you can raise the grain of the wood back into place by covering the surface with several sheets of damp wrapping paper and pressing sharply. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) until golden brown. Makes about two dozen cookies, two inches in diameter.

WOMAN TO WOMAN

PATRICIA MCCORMACK

New York (UPI) — Keep your mouth shut until you're involved in an auto accident.

That is, unless talking with a law enforcement officer or your insurance company representative.

Weigh the words when talking with the other driver involved in the mishap. Limit the conversation to the exchange of names and addresses making sure you get his license number to guard against misrepresentation.

First and foremost, don't make admissions until your insurance company has had a chance to investigate the accident.

A classic example for keeping your mouth shut is when you're involved with your insurance company in the rear-end collision.

There are many instances where the car in front is responsible. In a questionable situation it is best to let experts decide who was right and who was wrong.

A report from State Farm, noting that one in five licensed drivers will be involved in an auto accident during the next year, made these other points about conduct after an accident.

— Avoid arguments at the scene of the accident. Liability cannot be determined until the tension that prevails.

— Make a careful survey of the accident scene. Note any skid marks, location of debris, traffic control signs. If you don't have a measuring tape you probably won't, stepping off distances will do. Should you have the family camera in the car, pictures of the wreck and the area in which it occurred might prove helpful later.

— Steer clear of the persons offering cautionary legal advice. Do not, under any circumstances, sign any statement or contract at the scene of the accident. Give yourself time to collect your thoughts.

— In cases where injuries are involved early contact with your insurance company is important. The laws of most states don't require that you discuss the circumstances of the accident with anyone, including police. You do have to tell the police your name, address and license plate number, and show your driver's license if asked. Information you give the police is not considered confidential and may be used against you in court.

— If a lawyer is needed, use your own or one recommended by your insurance company. You can be recommended to a good lawyer by a friend or local bar association.

— If you're a witness to an accident, by the way, offering as London (UPI) - Britain bade a silent goodbye today to Sir Winston Churchill.

Two lines of people, some weeping but all wordless, filed past the 10-foot high catalogue in Westminster Hall where Churchill lies in state. Eight thousand of them paid their last respects in the first two hours. Outside the waiting line grew longer. It stretched past the House of Lords around the statue of the Crusader King Richard the Lionhearted, down Millbank which skirts the Thames, across Lambeth Bridge to the other side of the river and back toward Westminster Bridge.

For three days, 23 hours each day, the many who owe so much to Churchill will repay their debt. It started just at Big Ben boomed the hour of 11 a.m. across the city. There already were 4,000 persons waiting when the great door of St. Stephen swung open to admit them to Westminster Hall.

"New Lamps for Old" and have made lamp shades from raw materials and dressed them up as they have shined. The importance of good lighting was mentioned in this project and some of the demonstrations will deal with this.

World news today

London — Sir Winston Churchill's coffin was taken from his Hyde Park gate home to Westminster's Hall of Kings in a state funeral procession attracted through crowds of silent mourners. They lined the streets to pay homage to Britain's wartime leader who died Sunday at the age of 90.

— Soviet charges — The two were lodged against two American diplomats in Moscow. Accused were Embassy First Secretary Kenneth A. Kerst, 46, of Falls Church, Va., now in the United States. Kerst was ordered to leave the country. An American spokesman said the expulsion order was the result of a Soviet diplomat's outburst of a Soviet diplomat this month.

Madras, India — A 24-year-old Indian man set himself afire and died in protest against adoption of Hindi as the official language of India. The changeover touched off a wave of violence in Madras State, which speaks the ancient Tamil language. Most of the rest of the country peacefully celebrated the 15th anniversary of Republic Day.

United Nations — The United States warned that the world would be in a state of chaos if it allows the Soviet Union to escape payment of its U.N. dues. The U.S. said the Soviet Union is concerned. Stevenson said the U.N. cannot tolerate two rules for paying assessments for the expenses of the organization — one rule for most of the members — and another rule for a few.

Tehran, Iran — Premier Hassan Ali Mansur died of wounds suffered five days ago when he was shot by a young assassin. Top specialists from Britain and the United States, employing so-called "miracle drugs", battled in vain to save the life of the 41-year-old premier. Police quoted the 21-year-old assassin as saying he shot the premier because it was his "religious duty".

Ottawa — An investigation by the Justice Department led to the dismissal of Yvon Dupuis, Minister without portfolio in the Liberal cabinet, was disclosed by Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson yesterday. Pearson would not comment further on the firing last week saying only:

"The Justice Department is investigating now into matters which occurred some years before Mr. Dupuis was a member of the government — an act going to commitment further."

In Quebec, Premier John Lesage said that a Royal Canadian Mounted Police inquiry into the Dupuis affair does not involve his province in replying to a question from the opposition. Lesage said:

"It would be prejudicial to the investigation if I said anything about it."

Ottawa — There is no official indication on the current speculations that George Hees, (former Minister of Trade and Commerce during the Diefenbaker administration, may be a possible successor to John Diefenbaker as Tory party leader.

The general feeling at Hees, now president of the Montreal and Canadian Stock Exchange, has no interest in seeking the Conservative party leadership.

In referring to the future, a close friend of Hees said it would take some kind of special appeal to get George Hees back in public service.

During an interview, Hees carefully skirted any involvement in comment on the present controversy over Diefenbaker's leadership.

Montreal — The Dorian inquiry in Montreal is becoming more involved. A search is now out for a Montreal physician who pronounced a potential inquiry witness dead after signing his death certificate.

The doctor is being sought in connection with the death last December of Avide (Dave) Gagnon who allegedly contributed $20,000 to a fund aimed to bail accused drug smuggler Lucien Rivard from jail.

The doctor who signed the certificate of death based on information from an unknown doctor, and Gagnon's widow were unable to recall the mysterious doctor during hear-

Mrs. Gagnon doubted that her husband had contributed $20,000 to help Rivard. She added that her husband left her neither money nor property in his will.

The inquiry stems from charges that Montreal lawyer Pierre Lamontagne was pressured by high government sources, into dropping his opposition bail.

Meanwhile Rivard is awaiting extradition to the U.S. where he is accused of being the brains behind a narcotics smuggling ring.

Kiwanis Juveniles beat Beaverton 12-0

Lindsay Kiwanis Juveniles displayed some of their scoring potential last night when they scouted Beaverton Juveniles 12-0.

Jim Golden, Roger Welland and Bill Willis paced the Kiwanians with four, three and two goals each respectively. Simple goals came from John Gibbons, Sal Poito and Doug Lemore.

Coach Bill Campbell found the forward speed combination early when the local lads took a 4-0 lead on goals by Willis, Poito, Welland, and Golden. Welland with two and singles by Gibbons, Willis and Lemore added five in the second period, while a third period hat trick by Jim Golden completed the rout.

Only two penalties were called in the first two periods of fast clear hockey, one to each team, but the home team ran into five in final session as they battled to protect Pete Wardlaw's shut-out. The complete penalty awards showed three to Beaverton and six to Lindsay. Brian Keen being tagged with three. A return game at Beaverton winds up the schedule as the teams prepare for O.M.H.A. play-down activity.

Snow vehicle rally highlight of Minden Winter Carnival

A snow vehicle rally is to be held at Mountain Lake three days 35th Saturday and Sunday in connection with the 1965 Minden Winter Carnival. Don Barry, chairman of the rally, said "The events are open to all and we are expecting there will be a large number of machines and drivers from all over."

There will be a complete programme of events including several novelty races during the two day rally. In the open slalom machines will travel three times around a one mile course. This course must be completed without touching markers and all contestants must return to the starting point or be disqualified. The double slalom allows two or more on a machine with a total weight of not less than 250 lbs. and will use the same course as in the open slalom event.

A special feature will be the Pushover Derby for lady drivers only. In the ski-slalom slalom a machine will tow a skier through a series of slalom gates. The skier completing the most gates will be declared the winner. In the weight draw a machine will move off on a 100 yard course taking a toboogan. After foot intervals passengers will step on the toboogan until the weight stalls the machine. The

Take Over Museum Historical Society Asks County Council

R. M. Parker, President of the Victoria County Historical Society and John Thomas, a member of the society, approached county council this morning to request a grant of $1,000 towards the work of the society. Dr. Parker emphasized the need for financial assistance in carrying out the society's work. He undertook to erect the much-needed addition to the present structure of the museum in the future. He also undertook to erect the much-needed addition to the present structure of the museum in the future. He also undertook to erect the much-needed addition to the present structure of the museum in the future.

The speaker urged the county council assume the ownership of the museum in order to take advantage of the substantial grants available from the government. "Many societies in the province have already had their museums taken over by county councils," he said, and he added the county would have no difficulty in operating the museum because of the efficiency of the present staff.

Dr. Parker emphasized the patronage during the past year had been very good, particularly on the part of school children, he said, and he added the county would have no difficulty in operating the museum because of the efficiency of the present staff.

County Council opposes additional votes for Lindsay, names deputation

At a meeting of County Council Wednesday morning, the council was unanimous in authorizing a deputation to visit the Ontario government to oppose a petition forwarded to the province legislature by the Town of Lindsay, requesting a private bill to authorize additional representation for the Town of Lindsay on the County Council.

If it was approved, Lindsay which has now a reeve and deputation committee, would also be a member of the county council.

The charge was laid by Lindsay Police Corporal William Moore following investigation of a car parked in the rear of the Benson Hotel last Saturday night. A pair of hoggy skates and a package of meat had been stolen. The meat was later found in the hoggy skates and the officer stated.

Court was told that the accused had just been released January 12th, after serving thirty days for the theft of a car and wheel in December 1964.

The car collided with snowplow. A car driven by Lloyd Harris of Lindsay sustained $1045 in damage when it crashed into a snowplow on Highway 530 at Maple Lake at 10:45 p.m. yesterday. Hamilton OPP said the snowplow, driven by Alfred Sison of West Gullford, sustained minor damage. Police said the car lost control on a curve and crashed into the winter-maintenance vehicle. Police said weather conditions were the main cause of the accident.

BOATING FLOURISHED 50 YEARS AGO

Recent surveys indicate that Mill and later sold to Baker and Brien who took over the pleasure boating in Canada is at an all-time high; however, if you look back at the history of boating in the Lindsay area, it is one a side-wheeler called the "Beaver" of which Thomas Carew was the Captain and the other, the "Alexandria" whose captain was Ned Smith of Boboging. This was later re-named the "Arthur C." Nick Doherty of Doherty's Shingle Mill had a boat called the "Water Witch" and a boat called "Maple Leaf" was owned by Kennedy and Davis. William Fee was the captain in later years the Carew Lumber Company purchased a third tug called the "LOM". The "Bob" was named after the captain of this vessel.

Some of the excursion boats on the river were "Morry Lake", "Otonabee", "Greyhound", "Manita", "Kawartha", "Dawn", "Kathlene", "Lintonia", "Sunbeam", "Vanderbilt", "Cora and Mimosa". A 65-foot boat, "Benjie Butler", was the flagship of the Trent Canal. One of the fastest boats on the river was the "Onagah", a side-wheeler owned by the Trent Valley Navigation Company. Its sister-ship, the "Estara", 115 feet in length, was surpassed in size only by the "Crandella", a passenger boat under Captain Crandell. The "Beau Bogage" was a 100-foot tug with a heavy displacement and deep draught. One of the most powerful of the boats was the "Ajax". The "Bob" was named after a government official, and the "Harwood" were both government work boats on the Scugog. Other tugs were the "Undine", "Murtle", "Eva", "Ranger" and "Victoria".

Some of boating failures in

The "Lintonia" with a picnic crowd aboard traveling on the river near Fenlon Falls around 1950.

and the numerous small craft with gasoline engines owned by such people as Fred Oliver, Daniel Simlar, James Flacey, George Ramsey, Finky Preston, William Griffith, George Bell, James Metcalfe, Arthur Bell, Jack Burke, Philip Griffith, Bill Cinnamon, George Ford, Charles Deyell, James Grace, Norbert Pogue, William Roonick, Robert Spratt, Jack Flacey, James Ashley and T. J. Talle as well as a long list of others, it is hardly conceivable that there are more boats or craft with gasoline engines today. Perhaps if the present surveys are correct and have taken this previous era into consideration, the Kawartha Lakes had the bulk of Canadian boating in these bygone days.

The "Post" is interested to hear from anyone who has pictures and additional information about these and other boats in this area in Lindsay's early days.

W.M.S. and L.A. hold joint meet

Gleaners (PNS) — Newly elected president for 1968 Mrs. Dan Riley presided for the initial meeting of the Women's Mission Society of Gleaners Church held on the kind invitation of Mrs. Joe E. Nesbitt at her home where a splendid and encouraging number of ladies were present for the occasion.

Mrs. Riley gave the call to worship and repeated a suitable quotation "To live for all mankind" after which all joined in singing several verses of a hymn with Mrs. Nesbitt as accompanist.

Mrs. Bryon Kelly had charge of the Devotions dealing with the Christmas theme and outlined some of the business. Mrs. Nesbitt also commented on the reading and later led in prayer.

The retiring treasurer Mrs. Riley gave a report of the 1964 finances as to money sent to the Presbyterian Treasurer and the giving of this society in 1964 and Mrs. Wm. Hoyle (recording Secretary of the Presbyterian) informed the ladies of a meeting she had attended of the Executive held in Beaverton the day previous and outlined some of the business.

As the Secretary that was chosen at the election of officers felt that she was unable to carry out that duty Mrs. James H. Nesbitt kindly consented to fill that office for the year 1968. Mrs. Mac Murchison and Mrs. Nesbitt were asked to attend the annual meeting in Lindsay and bring back a report to the meeting.

Mrs. Mac Moryn and Mrs. Murchison are to help the Home Helper Secretary plan the World's Day of Prayer held in March and Mrs. Grain McKay extended an invitation to hold the meeting at her home.

Mrs. James H. Nesbitt read an article taken from the Gladstone "Indian Canadian Education" by Mr. N.W. Russar Principal of the Birtle Indian Residential School and the president commented on a letter she had received from a relative who with her husband are also teachers in an Indian school and situated about 1500 miles south of the Alaska border. After the singing of a hymn the meeting was turned over to members of the Ladies Aid who also held their meeting the same evening.

The President Mrs. Joe E. Nesbitt thanked the ladies for the splendid attendance to commence the 1968 meetings and as suitable quotation gave a "Recipe for the New Year".

The opening hymn was accompanied by Mrs. Mac Murchison at the piano after which minutes by Mrs. Clifford Douglas of the December meeting held at the home of Mrs. (Ray) McMillan in Lindsay and all answered the Roll Call with a verse of Scripture. The minutes were approved by Mrs. Mac Murchison. Letters of thanks for fruit, plants and remembrances at Christmas

The Treasurer's Report was submitted in an itemized report and the new floor covering for the vestibule of the church in 1964 was the main project. This year again, the floor problem in the auditorium of the church and classrooms and each report at the next meeting their various views on what is best to be done. A sing song of a verse or two of several hymns was followed by a reading by Mrs. Will Nesbitt of the late King George VI in his Christmas Empire broadcast.

The singing of a hymn and the repetition of the Miraph Benediction brought the meeting to a close and lunch was served by the hostess and time enjoyed.

County Council Comments

Victoria County Council got off the councilors. With seven years to a good start and an annual municipal service under the January 1, 1967, the council has been proved to be a very busy one. Robert Cammack was elected through troubled waters. Warden on the first ballot and that was a surprise to many of plans should include the (largest by touching with the in the council it is difficult to a council chamber, but they could not hear a thing, and the when they found they couldn't hear what was going on, then one of the most dignified in they talked out. Too bad the province.

Col. Ivan Moore, O.C., has argued for over thirty-seven years. He "knows the ropes" and can always be counted on to have the first time he was called on to swear in a council. At every January session, the council appears to waste a lot of time when the committee for the year are appointed. Last Wednesday afternoon's session was an excellent, follows the procedure of a keen interest in making up points to the most important committees and a count of four and five ballots to fill a place before some of the committees of four members. Over three and a half hours were taken to settle some nine committees.

ON THIN ICE?

NO ONE can be more interesting than a fellow who isn't hampered by facts, said a humorist, and the slouch at right is in case in point. To be sure, there are some "interesting" facts to this picture, things that an eye-witnesser would not be likely to see unless he were suffering from hallucinations. Of course, the picture was drawn this way purposely as a test of wit and powers of observation. You are asked to study the picture carefully and compile a list of at least 10 errors below.

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____
4. _____
5. _____
6. _____
7. _____
8. _____

No fair peeking at answers.

Write four items in your list which you think are errors. Write the number of the error in the space to the right of the error. Write an error number, using only odd digits.

Write four items with three equal figures other than 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100.

Hey There, Rover, Who's at the Door?

Find the missing digit in this problem in minutes.

Now, here's a riddle for you. You're not talking to a furnace but to a doghouse above you. The subject of this riddle is standing hollow at the door. But then, being invisible, what has the visitor to fear? To complete the riddle simply start at dot A and draw to B, C, D, and so on, letter by letter, through the alphabet. After you've completed the picture, you may wish to add appropriate colors to it.

This Magic Square Is Different

THIS is a magic square with a difference. The four corner boxes are omitted. The problem is to arrange the numbers 1 to 16 in the form of a cross so as to make totals of 34 in seven different ways, i.e., the two horizontal and the two vertical ones, the group of squares marked a-a, the group marked b-b-b and the group marked c-c-c, each making the above-mentioned total.

Remember, you are to make a total of 34 seven different ways. If you square 1 to 16, you will find that the sum of the numbers 1 to 16 is 136. If you divide this by 4, you will find that the sum of the numbers 1 to 16 is 34. This is the magic number.

Africa "brought to life" by missionary

Fenelon Falls (PNS) — Mr. Roy Hiron who serves with the Sudan Interior Mission at Gusau in Northern Nigeria, and now with his wife, is on furlough in Canada brought an inspiring challenging message in Fenelon Falls Fellowship Baptist Church on Wednesday evening.

Rev. G. A. Bell led in a short devotional service of hymns, with Mrs. Newell Watson at the piano and prayer by several members of the congregation, before he introduced the special speaker.

Mr. Hiron spoke of the ministry of literature, and the impact Christian literature can and does make on the Africans. Several small magazines, Africa Today, African Challenge and others were distributed at the close of the meeting.

As the text of his message, Mr. Hiron chose a portion of verse 21 from St. John's Gospel chapter 12. "Sir, we would see Jesus." He told of many personal experiences, most of which were centered in the building of a school, in which the natives shared. The influence of a young student, Mr. Pollard and of a native school teacher was also pointed out.

You're probably wondering why you received your income tax form in the mail at home rather than from your employer?

We think it's more efficient. Your employer doesn't have the responsibility of handing out forms. There is less chance of you losing them. And everybody gets his income tax form at the same time. It is a Personalized tax form. It is mailed to you. Completed by you. Returned by you. This year, because your income tax form bears your identification code number, it can be processed faster and more economically, and, in the long run, make your employer's job easier. Since we will be handling 6,500,000 tax returns this year (and next year) you can see the benefits of switching to this system. You can help us make it even more efficient by filing your income tax form early. Please.

MAILED TO YOU, COMPLETED BY YOU, RETURNED BY YOU.

DEPARTMENT OF NATIONAL REVENUE,
The Hon. E. J. Benson, Minister

Driver given benefit of doubt in impaired driving charge

"I believe Mr. Tully and I am going to give him the benefit of the doubt on the impaired driving charge — charge dismissed," said Magistrate J. Munro in Lindsay Police Court Monday noon. George Andrew Tully was charged with driving while impaired, having liquor in a place other than his residence, and failing to stop at a stop street by Lindsay police following an investigation at 12:40 a.m. December 27th, 1964.

Lindsay Police Constable John Henley told the court of observing a vehicle which failed to stop on Peel street by Victoria Avenue. He said the vehicle failed to stop at the Sussex street intersection, turning left toward Kent street, followed by the police cruiser. He told the court that the vehicle proceeded through the stop intersection at Kent street at 25 miles per hour, increased its speed to about 40 miles per hour on Sussex street, before turning sharply left onto Glenelg street.

Constable Henley told of apprehending the accused when he stopped in his drive way, and said the accused's breath smelled of alcohol. On cross-examination by defense counsel George Irig, the Constable said no further tests were made. He said the accused did not stagger but moved "naturally." He didn't seem to realize the seriousness of failing to stop at the stop sign, continued the Constable.

When the constable in answer to question admitted that the police did not stop at the intersections, defense counsel Irig queried "I wonder if the police can go around breaking traffic laws to apprehend offenders?" and he reminded the Constable that the accused never was stopped.

The accused, George Andrew Tully, told the court that he had nothing to drink that evening at the house. He said he went down with his son and daughter in law later signs. In the evening and had one drink each. When asked about the bottle of liquor which the police found on the front seat of the vehicle, the accused said he had had bought it and was saving it for New Years. He indicated he left it in the car so as not to be a temptation in the house.

Frederick Tully of 216 Chestnut street, Whitby, son of the accused said he had spent the evening with his father playing cards, and confirmed his father's story regarding having one drink at the Legion. He said he had preceded his father from the Legion, going west on Peel street to Sussex, where the engine of his car stalled a couple of car lengths from the corner. He said his father passed him, slowed at the corner of Sussex before turning south on Sussex. He said he noticed the police car pursuing his father, and saw the brake lights of both vehicles come on as they approached Kent street, but his father did not come to a dead stop. Mrs. Sheila Pauline Tully, wife of Frederick Tully, substantiated the evidence given by her husband, except that she did not notice the brake lights at Kent street.

In summing up the defense counsel George Irig suggested that the only evidence of impairment was in proceeding through two stop signs, and in both cases he slowed down to see that there was no oncoming traffic. He questioned the only test of impairment being the breath odour, and submitted that there was a reasonable doubt. Mr. Irig also indicated that recent amendments to liquor laws did permit carrying unopened packages of liquor in a car in other than a direct route to the purchasers home.

In dealing with the charge of failing to stop, the magistrate said being impaired did not depend on the amount consumed, and he said he was quite satisfied the officers were efficient in their decision.

On the charge of failing to stop at stop signs to which the accused had pleaded guilty, Magistrate Munro levied a fine of $15.00 and costs. On the charge of having liquor in the place other than his residence, a fine of $10.00 and $11.00 costs was imposed. The magistrate told the accused that the front seat of his car was no place to carry liquor, and he was surprised that a transport driver would ignore stop signs.

Chum Gillespie, John McCrae, Jim Brown and others handling the draw.

Lindsay Club ably assisted in completing plans for the biggest bonspiel of the season next Saturday. The Scoug River Special Sixty-four risks have signed on the dotted line and the Committee has a waiting list for any late defectors. Six sheets of ice in Lindsay will be supplemented by three sheets at Oshawa and four ice in Fenion Falls and many expected participants are looking forward to the bus trips to the out-of-town risks. An excellent programme has been lined up and hospitality will be a big word in the big slip. Games start at eight-thirty a.m.

The Lindsay risk from the Lions club journeyed to Bancroft last weekend and did well in good curling on good ice returned with third prize. The bonspiel included risks from as far east as Belleville and west to Toronto. The event was played on a three draw scale in order to accommodate the four sheets of ice. The Lindsay risk included Bill More (skip), Morris, the Howard Bick and L. Carvech.

Here Hardy will lead a Kilmarnock risk to Oshawa for tie-break bonspiel on February 10th. President Les Porter of the Lindsay Kiwanis Club has plans to attend a Golden Anniversary bonspiel to be held at Hamilton in March.

District clubs wishing to take part in the British Columbia event will meet on Tuesday Wednesday of this week. Two Lindsay risks played a few days ago to decide on a local representative when McCrae team defeated Murray Davis' strong foursome on the last end. The winning risk John McCrae (skip), Jim Brown, Paul Ashmore and Chum Gillespie.

In a 24-risk bonspiel for the Massey-Ferguson bonus and creates a risk from Oshawa skipped by Elmer emerged on top. In the third game, Bege defeated Clarkson to Woodville by smart curling in the final end. The Bege risk now takes a trek to Brampton in the next big and important round in the Provincial Dominion battle of granites.

The final game score was 18-11. Clarkson, B. C. Junkins of Bobayconing finished in second place and D. Graham and his foursome landed third place.

The Massey-Ferguson bonspiel is one of the largest in the Dominion. The winner in last Saturday's preliminary moves on to Brampton where all the Provincial districts winners will meet to decide a champion risk to enter the Dominion tournament to be held in Toronto.

Last winter a risk skipped by the Dundas of Sunderland tucked away a number of wins but failed to make the final grade.

Bill Robin, well known and capable representative of Massey-Ferguson was on hand during the day and officiated in the distribution of prizes. President Lou Walker of the Veterans call for re-union of 109th survivors

A number of yellowed photographs of fifty years ago, owned by Mel Goff of Fenelon Falls recall the day when the 109th battalion was formed to answer the call to war.

The 109th battalion of the 45th Regiment was formed in December, 1915. At that time a battalion consisted of 16 platoons and each platoon had four sections. Four platoons in turn made up a company.

"A" and "B" companies of the 109th battalion were recruited in Lindsay and London, and "C" company in Victoria County outside of Fenelon Falls. No. 10 at Babcock, No. 11 at Kirkfield and Victoria Road and No. 12 at Woodville. These assembled in May, 1916.

Major H. Hutchins of Fenelon Falls commanded No. 9 platoon, "C" company and is seen above riding a horse led by the Fenelon Falls band. A small dog possibly a mascot, accompanies the men. Major Hutchins was killed on April 8th at the battle of Vimy Ridge leading a group of soldiers against a machine gun nest.

"D" company was formed in Hamilton County and second in command was Lt. Col. R. H. Anderson of Tarry Hill who is still living in that village. Major Gray was the Commanding Officer at that time.

The Battalion was Col. J. Haycock Fife of Omemee. "A" company was recruited from Esexlin and "B" company commander Major McCrae of Omemee.

In addition to the companies the battalion had a machine gun section, a signals section, a brass band and a light band.

OVERSEAS
The battalion went overseas in July 1916, recalls Jasper Forman, a member of the regiment who was to bring honour to the battalion in later months. The men travelled on the "Olympic" to Liverpool, and then to Bramshott camp. From there they went on to Whitley camp for training in October, during the Battle of the Somme, the second Canadian Division was badly cut up and the 109th supplied about 500 men as reinforcements.

The 109th was refitted with troops from the 126th P.E.I. Regiment. Then in December the fourth division (38th bat-Second from the right is John Carver, M.P. for Victoria. In the centre picture the Fenelon Falls band leads the Fenelon Falls platoon over the bridge at Penzance on their way to Barbicoff. talion) came off the Somme, equally cut up and wanted 500 to 600 men from the 109th battalion. Private Jasper Forman was one of the men. We'll let him tell the story.

"We went from Southampton to Le Havre and it was very stormy and most of us were sick," he recalled. "We joined the 38th Battalion at Bruyere, France and then went to Vimy Ridge and took up our positions. We stayed there until April 9th, 1917 and then went over the ridge and captured it. We went on."

Mr. Forman recalled that he and former Prime Minister of Ontario, Leslie M. Frost went to the unveiling of the Vimy Ridge Memorial in July 1936.

DECORATED
Jasper Forman was decorated on no less than three occasions during those dark days of war. He received a Military Medal at the Battle of Lacelle following Vimy when he was a signaller and carried messages to the commanding officer through the thick of the fighting. He won the DCM at the Battle of Amiens in August 1918 during the first hundred days that ended the war, here the troops were being heavily shelled and signaller Forman took the signal flag and signalled back that shells were falling short on their own men. He stood in full view of the enemy and he signalled with shells falling around.

Mr. Forman received a bar to his DCM in September 1918 in the Battle of Cambrai. Here the soldiers were advancing when they ran into enemy machine-gun fire. The battalion lost more men in that battle than ever before and the advance signal station was all casualties. No communication existed until lance-corporal Forman and Private George Sweeney went forward and connected a telephone line from a shell hole maintained well by stampering on his head.

The guests were served the Haggis along with tattles and neckties, a customary Scottish feast since the 17th century.

The dinner, celebrated by Scots throughout the world, celebrated the birth of the Scottish lyric, descriptive and narrative poet, who was born in 1739. He has been lauded as one of the greatest of the romantic.

Ops school treasurer appointed

As Ops Township voted whether the information, given by a letter to "The Post" asked if a secretary-treasurer had been appointed to the Ops Township Area School Board and if so who was it and what was his salary? The ratemakers said in his letter this was a public office and it seemed in order and general practice that the name and salary of the applicant should be released through the newspaper.

Chairman of the School Board, Clifford Reeds said that Max Aldous of Reabro had been chosen from a large number of applicants. He declined, however, to indicate Mr. Aldous' salary because, he said, the applicant should be released through the newspaper.

TV Ratings Challenged By U.S. Trade Commission

WASHINGTON—Your favorite television program goes to court, too. The U.S. Trade Commission has filed suit to force the FCC to stop its "must-carry" rule, which requires stations to carry local programming. The suit is based on the fact that the FCC's rule is an unconstitutional interference with interstate commerce.

The FCC's "must-carry" rule requires stations to carry local programming, including news, public affairs, and educational programs. The suit argues that this rule is an unconstitutional interference with interstate commerce, as it forces stations to carry programming that they do not want to carry.

The suit is the latest in a series of challenges to the FCC's "must-carry" rule. In 1967, the Supreme Court ruled in National Association of Broadcasters v. FCC that the FCC's rule was unconstitutional. The FCC had argued that the rule was necessary to ensure that local programming was available to all viewers.

The U.S. Trade Commission's suit is a direct challenge to the FCC's rule. The Commission argues that the rule is an unconstitutional interference with interstate commerce, as it forces stations to carry programming that they do not want to carry.

Little Britain

The annual congregational meeting of the Little Britain United Church was held on Monday evening of last week but owing to inclement weather conditions. There was just a fair attendance. The minutes of last year's annual meeting were read and adopted and reports which were given by the other various secretaries were quite gratifying and showed that much progress had been made during the past year in most instances of all the departments and organizations had been made. The meeting was as usual preceded by a pot luck supper and which was enjoyed by all present. Friends of Mr. Harry Ayers of Lindsay who has been confined to the Reformer Nursing Home in the village for several weeks request to hear that he is at present seriously ill, but hope that there soon will be a change in his condition for the better.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. J. E. Harrison of Lindsay and who was a former resident of this community on reaching another milestone and celebrating his 90th birthday at his home in Lindsay on Monday of the week and his many friends are glad to hear that he is still enjoying fairly good health and will win many more happy returns of the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Palmer, Mrs. George Varcoe, Mrs. Fred Thomson and also Mr. Melville Mose were in attendance at the social evening and presentation in honour of Mrs. S. Nowakowski who had been on the Little Britain teaching staff for several years and who resigned her position at Christmas to become the New Victoria County Librarian and which was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Nicholson in Oakwood.

The members of the Little Britain Hockey Club are now making plans and preparations for their St. Valentine's dance at the I.O.O.F. Hall in February and have been fortunate in securing Gurney Powell's orchestra to provide the music.

Kinsmen donate exercise cycle

"This fills a long felt need" said Ian Milner, chairman of the Lindsay and District Association for Retarded Children, when on behalf of the Association, he accepted an exercise bicycle from the Lindsay Kinsmen Club, represented by Earl Wood.

Mr. Milner told "The Post" the bicycle is a very much needed piece of equipment to help the members and then split them into discussion groups, and posed this question: "What don't searching do you think Mrs. Day is suggesting the Y.W.A. do?" and "What might be the result if your group were to engage in such self-examination?" The various group opinions were brought back and discussed.

The meeting opened with a worship service conducted by Mrs. Thomas Humphries, and she also read a Bible reading from St. Peter and an article which stressed "a need for more study of the Bible." Mrs. H. Watson was at the piano.

Eight pupils attending OARC school

There are seven full time pupils and one part time pupil attending the school for retarded children at Cambridge Hall, Mrs. Joan Powell, Lindsay.

District Association secretary told members attending the fifth annual meeting Wednesday night. She said Mrs. E. McEachern had started in September as assistant to the principal, Miss Irene Greenan, following the resignation last summer of Mrs. James Hall and expressed the appreciation of the Association in that these people have accomplished.

Treasurer Albert Wheldon in giving his report said expenditures during the past year totalled $4,152.73. Of this amount, $2,639.00 paid the salaries, $200.00 went for rental fees, $560.00 for transportation and $37.88 for milk. $39.26 was spent on advertising. He notes that the Association participated in the Red Feather campaign and the Association at the end of the year had $2,358.00 bank balance.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The next meeting will be the Ladies' Aid held at the home of Mrs. Murray McInnis. Hostesses for that meeting are to be Mrs. Jack Campbell and Mrs. Ewart MacInnis.

The meeting closed by singing a hymn, followed by prayer. Lunch and a social half hour were enjoyed.

The Younger Women's Auxiliary of St. Paul's Church discussed a chapter of their study book "This Is My Calling," written by a laywoman, Mrs. Ethel Day. In the chapter studied, Mrs. Day suggests Sunday School teachers should be trained before taking on the responsibility of teaching young children and this would estimate the highest method of plucking a teacher out of space and hoping for the best."

Mrs. David Lemon gave a thorough summary of the chapter to the members and then split them into discussion groups, and posed this question: "What don't searching do you think Mrs. Day is suggesting the Y.W.A. do?" and "What might be the result if your group were to engage in such self-examination?" The various group opinions were brought back and discussed.

Mrs. L. McCallum conducted the business session and the minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. J. Mackey and approved. The treasurer's report was given following roll call, by Mrs. A. Lancel.

The group decided to hold a rummage sale in February with Mrs. P. Aiman as convener. Mrs. L. McCallum announced the 20th Century Folk Mass presented by St. George's Episcopal Church, Young People's choir in co-operation with St. Paul's Anglican on January 31st.

Political Notebook

by Norman MacLeod

Ottawa (UPI) — The more savage the open season proclaimed by dissenting conservatives against "Chief the Chief" becomes, the more closely is the role of LeBlanc in the drama being examined.

Veteran politicians in the capital are no longer convinced it is as simple as they first seemed the case. When the Conservative leadership issue split exploded many weeks ago, Parliament Hill circles look for granted that Balcer simply was serving as spokesman for his fellow French-Canadians in his expressions of dissatisfaction with Diefenbaker.

But as matters have developed, a new theory is replacing this original idea in the minds of the capital's shrewdest observers.

This theory inclines to the view that Balcer's actual role is not spokesman for his French-Canadian compatriots, but rather stalking-horse for the old guard of the English speaking section of the party which wants urgently to get rid of Diefenbaker.

The "Old Guard" wing amongst the conservatives is generally identified with ministerial senator M. Walter McCutcheon, former Health Minister J. Walter Montpetit, Senator Gomer Thornhill, national president Dalton Camp, and other lesser figures in the party.

Until a couple of months ago they were divided on the subject of Diefenbaker's continued usefulness to the party.

During the fall debate they observed on the problem, however, and since then they have been working quietly but persistently on the problem of changing the party's leadership.

The evidence that Balcer is carrying the ball for this group rather than for his Quebec compatriots, is largely circumstantial. But it is considered in steadily widening parliament circles to be impressive. The close liaison maintained by the former transport minister with the McCutcheon circle has been apparent to observers in the capital for some several weeks past. Literally within minutes of the break-up of the caucus meetings of the Quebec Conservatives, Balcer would be found closeted with the Bay Street senator with one or two of the "Old Guard" usually also present.

Then there was the plan to trip made from Halifax by Camp at the time the Quebec Caucus met in Montreal. Camp conferred with Balcer before the gathering got underway. At the time observers assumed his mission was to restrain Balcer's insurgency, but the theory now widely held is that his purpose was to advise Balcer on behalf of the Tory Old Guard.

Parliament Hill circles, which accept the theory Balcer actually is serving as stalking horse for the Tory "Old Guard", are not necessarily impressed by the smartness of the strategy. For it is apparent much of the resentment which the Anti-Diefenbaker movement is encountering at the grassroots level of the party stems from the belief he is the victim of a Quebec plot hatched out of revenge for his stand in favour of the Red Ensign in the fall debate.

For the "Old Guard" to select a leading Quebec figure as the front man for its anti-Diefenbaker revolt is regarded in Parliament Hill circles as an elementary mistake in tactics.

Young man learns Canadian Farming

Fenelon Falls (PNS) — Mr. Joseph Chen of Taiwan (formerly Formosa) was the guest speaker at the Sunday morning service in Fenelon Falls United Church. Mr. Chen is a University graduate in Agriculture Science. This month he is living on a farm in the Lindsay area. Mr. Chen gave a head outline of the background of Taiwan, where the gospel was first preached by the Dr. Macleod in 1872. He told the story of his conversion to the faith and how he would continue to witness for Christ both in Canada and on his return to Taiwan, where there are now more than 1800 Christian churches, and where the Christian influence is evident in many of the country's life.

Mr. M. W. Robson presided at the organ and there was piano music by the choir.

WMS installs 1965 officers

Cunningham; Welcome and Welfare, Mrs. D. Marchion; Glad Tidings and Literature, Miss I. Demill.

Mrs. Wm. Cunningham was in charge of the devotional period. Miss M. Demill introduced the new study book "Call and Response", which is a history of the Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. She dealt with the study, "Mission on our Doorstep". The roll call was answered by a New Year's selection.

Following the singing of a hymn and prayer by the president, the hosts served refreshments and a social time was enjoyed over the tea cups.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Popert of Toronto were week end visitors with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Popert, Pauline and Doug.

Mrs. B. Hanthorn has returned from a visit at the home of her son Mr. and Mrs. Closos Hanthorn and family in Leppier and with friends in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Catton and Maureen of Toronto spent the week end with the Rev. and Mrs. J. B. Harrison.

Friends of Mrs. A. Poppe will be sorry to learn that she is a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, and with her a good recovery.

A party of four cottagers from West Hill and Scarborough had an icy dip in Sturgeon Lake about 10 p.m. on Friday night when their "skidoo" went through the ice. Their shouts and splashing attracted the family of Mr. Ross Bilety but when he got to the lake they had managed to reach shore by themselves.
